

Chatham Park Conflict Mediators Ready for Duty

The Chatham Park Conflict Mediation Program, under the direction of school counselor Catherine Mallam, is beginning its 28th year. The group of fourth and fifth grade students, nominated by teachers and peers, complete eight hours of training to prepare for mediating with younger students on the playground. Since the program's inception, thousands of conflicts have been resolved peacefully through mediation.