A Note from Mrs. Schuhmacher

Students and faculty enjoyed our annual Blessing of the Animals Chapel this week. Students brought their favorite furry friends and hugged them tightly as Mother Curtis told us about her grandmother Olivia and the grace and kindness she showed to others. She reminded students that they have the opportunity to be kind to others every single day and treat them with the same love and gentleness they share with their family.

I want to share the blessing written by Henri-Frédéric Amie that Mother Curtis gives us at the closing of Chapel each week this year. I think it is a great message and one that fits so nicely with this week's Chapel. "Life is short. We don't have much time to gladden the hearts of those who walk this way with us. So, be swift to love and make haste to be kind."

Students enjoyed two special assemblies this week. Ballet Arkansas shared a preview of Sleepy Hollow with students on Thursday afternoon. Students loved the dancers' performance and costumes, and they had some pretty awesome questions for the dancers as we closed. The Little Rock Zoo brought five furry friends for a fun visit on Friday afternoon.

PSL football players and cheerleaders will play and perform at Pulaski Academy on Saturday at 9am. PSL volleyball takes on Pulaski Academy White team at 10am in Rutherford Gym. Chess club members will compete in their first tournament this Saturday at Don Roberts Elementary at 8am. Also, our Wildcat Chorale will perform this Sunday at Trinity Cathedral during the 9am service. We hope you are able to join us in one of the many opportunities to support our young Wildcats this weekend.

Next week will be a big one as we celebrate our annual Wildcat Roundup on Wednesday. Jamie Jones and her committee have done a phenomenal job planning what is sure to be an amazing time for all! Students are encouraged to wear Western wear to school on Wednesday, but please save your boots and hats for the event that night. We hope to see you there!

Sincerely,

Catherine Schuhmacher

Co-Curricular News - Music

Pre-K3

Students in Pre-K3 have been learning to use different parts of their voices by imitating glissandos played on a slide whistle. We have also been working on using different variations of our voices such as our "whisper, speaking, talking, and outside" voices. Two simple songs the children have been working on in class are Frog in the Meadow and Pitter Patter.

Pre-K4

In Pre-K4 we have been exploring classical music by moving to short excerpts from Faust and Gaîté Parisienne. The students did very well at coming up with silly animal lyrics to add to Down By the Bay, filling in the phrase "Did you ever see a whale with a polka dot tail?" We have also been hard at work learning the song Fais Dodo in Cajun French.

Kindergarten

The kindergarten students have been learning fun fingerplays such as Do Your Ears Hang Low? and There Was a Little Turtle. We also worked on our steady beat as a class through learning the songs William He Had Seven Sons and Johnny Works with One Hammer. One of the most fun activities has been learning old folk stories through song. One story in particular, Momma, Buy Me a China Doll, was a big hit and inspired many laughs.

Appropriate Safety Tips for Today

Episcopal Collegiate Lower School Parent Round Table

Is “Stranger Danger” still appropriate for this day and age?

- Short answer is no. Stranger danger is not completely ineffective but doesn't teach children the skills that are most useful to keep themselves safe today.
- 90% of incidents (abuse or abduction) that occur involve someone the child knows.

Teaching the difference between a good stranger and a bad stranger (or "tricky people")

Good Stranger Characteristics:

- Someone you can ask for help- police officers, firemen, store clerks with name tags, parents with children, security guards, teachers, etc...

Bad Stranger Characteristics:

- Someone who tries to get a child to do something without their parents' permission. Some examples include-
 - An adult asks them to disobey their parents or do something without permission.
 - An adult that asks them to keep a secret.
 - An adult that asks children for help- adults should ask other adults for help.

New language to use instead of stranger danger: (National Center for Missing and Exploited Children)

- Don't say: Never talk to strangers
- Say: You should not approach just anyone. If you need help, look for the "good" or "safe" strangers.
- Don't say: Stay away from people you don't know.
- Say: It's important you get permission before going anywhere with anyone.
- Don't say: You can tell someone is bad just by looking at them.
- Say: Pay attention to what people do. Tell me right away if anyone asks you to keep a secret, makes you feel uncomfortable, or tries to get you to go with them.
- Begin teaching them how to trust their intuition. You can begin to discuss that "uh oh" feeling you get when you feel like something is wrong.

Simple safety rules to begin teaching: (www.asecurelife.com)

- Trust yourself- if something doesn't feel right, get help right away.
- Always walk with a buddy.
- Memorize your name, parents' names, address, and phone number.
- Secrets aren't safe.
- Play the freeze game if lost.
- Yell and tell - if someone tries to force you to go with them, yell as loud as you can statements like "this person is not my dad", "help", "I don't know you"
- Use a family code word- in case a neighbor, relative, friend they are unfamiliar with has to pick them up, have them ask for the code word so they know they are safe to go with.
- Find a good stranger.

Online safety tips:

- Never give your personal information to a person online.
- Use parental controls.
- Do not use open chat rooms on video games.
- Trust your conscious, if it feels wrong, it probably is wrong.
- An appropriate adult will never need your help, ask a child for their personal info, need a picture from you, want to be a "friend" with you...
- If they are looking for attention online, there may be a bigger issue with friendship/relationship building in person, self-esteem, anxiety, etc...

Find ways in your everyday life to practice and instill these strategies in your children. For example:

- When in public, point out "good" strangers so they become more aware of what that means.
- Have kids practice talking to strangers in your presence.

- Role play - practice with a parked car what they need to do if someone asks them to get in, practice acting out how to respond if a stranger asks them for help, or if someone they know makes them feel uncomfortable.

Reading Materials:

- Ages 3-6- A Little Book About Safety
- Ages 4-8- Not Everyone is Nice: Helping Children Learn Caution with Strangers
- Ages 6-9- Do You Have a Secret?

Discussion Points:

- How do you teach safety skills in your home?
- Any of these ideas new to you or new language to use?
- What are your biggest fears about your child's safety?
- Any good tips or books you've found helpful on this topic?

Study Skills for 4th & 5th Grades - Long Term Assignments

It might be nice to have several days to work on an assignment, but it can also be daunting. When should I start? How much should I get done on the first day? Budgeting time and energy over the course of a long-term assignment can be a challenge. We will work with students on a mock assignment to help them break it into manageable chunks. Throughout the next few weeks, we will apply these skills to actual long-term assignments in class so that we learn how to budget our time appropriately!

Discuss with your child:

1. What is the first big step in this task? How many different parts/tasks are there?
2. How long do you expect each step to take? What's a reasonable amount of time to work on this each day?

Chapel News

In Godly Play, we are continuing the story of Exodus as we explore how Moses leads the people in the wilderness, and they build a special meeting tent for God to be with them. The story of the Tabernacle helps us to imagine the ways we prepare and experience God's presence in special places.

In our community chapel, Dr. Dionne Jackson, Coach Troy Jackson's spouse and mother of Lower School student, Chloe Jackson, will be presenting. Dr. Jackson works as the Executive Director of AR Kids Read.

Middle School

A Note from Dr. McCormick

Dear Parents,

As I mentioned to our students at Monday's Morning Meeting, this has been a particularly big week in the life of our school. We are in the home stretch of the first quarter, will engage in our first-ever all school service learning trip to support Tacos4Life on Friday afternoon, and we hope to cap off the week by having some fun at another first for us - a Middle School specific tailgate event this evening, 4:00 - 7:00 p.m! I hope that many of you will attend and show your Middle School spirit! As regards the tailgate, and on behalf of the entire Middle School faculty, I would like to say a huge thank you in advance to our grade-level parent reps. who willingly accepted the challenge to spearhead organizing the event: Grade rep. coordinator, Mrs. Neal Lea; 8th grade - Mrs. Katie Huff and Mrs. Anne Wallace; 7th grade - Mrs. Katie Hunter and Mrs. Mary Allen; and 6th grade - Mrs. Elizabeth Poynter and Mrs. Sydney Blackmon. Mrs. Allen is responsible for designing the amazing posters and flyers advertising the event, as well as the Spirit Ribbons, which made the Middle School extra spirited these past 10 days!

Please remember that next Thursday, October 10, is our fall conference day and there are no classes. If you will be joining us for conferences, we ask that your child please attend to participate in the conversation.

Chuck McCormick
Head of Middle School

Athlete of the Week

From Cheer Coach, Ms. Melissa:

I had a difficult time selecting an Athlete of the Week. This group of young ladies comes out every day to practice and games ready to work hard and cheer loud, but there is one young lady that has been working extremely hard. She comes to practice and games with a smile on her face and is ready to go wherever she is needed. She's ready to learn and practice new material, no matter what it is. I have even seen her outside after lunch practicing our upcoming dance routine. I know it hasn't been easy for her the last couple of weeks during practice and games because she has been sick, but she hasn't missed a beat. Her smile, laugh, and love to cheer on her

Wildcats is contagious. I'm excited to present Lola Jewell with this week's Middle School Athlete of the Week award.

Upper School

A Note from Mr. Urquhart

Next Wednesday marks the end of our first quarter of classes, with family conference day on Thursday. Although these conferences are not required, we'd enjoy getting the chance to spend time with you talking about your child's experiences and progress so far this year, so if you are able to join us that day, please call or email Ms. Whitbeck in the Upper School office. You can reach her by email at swhitbeck1@episcopalcollegiate.org or by phone at extension 2400.

We have asked teachers to submit final grades for the first quarter to Ms. Fitz in time for her to publish report cards on the afternoon of Wednesday, October 16. To view your child's report card after they are published, sign into Veracross and select "Classes and Reports" next to your child's name. On the screen that follows, click on the link for the quarter one under the report card heading. Note that this text will be visible (but inactive) before grades are complete, and that the link will become active when grades are complete and report cards are posted.

As we look forward to our Fall Break next weekend, I hope that the long weekend will serve as a time of rest for you and your family. The break comes at the end of a very successful first quarter, and I realize that some of us might be tempted to use these days as an opportunity either to catch up on work that may have been set aside or to get ahead with preparations for the second quarter. Recognizing the importance of time away from school for rest and reflection, I hope that as much as possible, you'll use this time to disconnect, to relax, and to engage with family and friends, and that the break helps you enter the second quarter feeling rested, energized, and excited about what the rest of this year promises to hold.

Please remember that after we return from Fall Break, the Upper School will not hold regular classes on Wednesday, October 16. Our tenth and eleventh graders will be taking the PSAT that morning, our ninth graders will be participating in a service learning project at the Arkansas State Capitol and Supreme Court, and our seniors have the day free so that they can work on college applications and essays. All of our Upper School students should visit our annual Flu Clinic that day: ninth grade students at the conclusion of their service learning project, tenth and eleventh grade students at the conclusion of the PSAT, and seniors between 11:30 and 3:00.

Troy Urquhart
Head of Upper School

AP Psychology Brain Imaging

On Thursday, September 26, the AP Psychology class took a field trip to the Brain Imaging Lab at UAMS to see the most recent projects using functional magnetic resonance imaging (fMRI). After hearing about the projects currently underway, students got to try out the equipment firsthand. Hayden Smith had a 3-D model of his skull taken to allow him a secure fit in the fMRI machine just as fidgety young children would require. Lucie Hughes demonstrated the importance of the test scanner that the researchers use to first practice with new patients. Finally, Alyssa Baker underwent a full brain scan and performed basic motor functions in the fMRI machine to show the active areas (particularly the motor cortex and occipital lobe) involved in finger tapping and vision. The students left with a new found appreciation for the detailed work of these researchers and the tremendous potential that neuroscience now allows for diagnosis and treatment of mental health disorders. Thank you, Alyssa Baker, who has allowed these photos of her brain scan to be shared. How cool!
