This year's Goldie Gallop was another great success. Though we were kept indoors for the weather, all of the kids did a great job running! The first graders were our lead fundraising class and will have a Glass Nickel sponsored pizza party to celebrate!

NATIONAL ARTS & HUMANITIES MONTH

To celebrate and recognize the arts in our community, we took some time to highlight the contributions of our own teachers of the Arts!

Sara Zallar has been teaching Art at the elementary level for thirteen years, eleven of which have been at Eastside Elementary School. Inspired by her mother's interest in Art, she would watch her mom in awe as she created breathtaking murals. Now her passion is to share that same "awe" with her students and encourages them to explore many different media, techniques, artists, movements and cultures through their learning experience in Art. Pablo Picasso once said, "Every child is an artist." At Eastside, Sara strives to help students recognize this about themselves while also developing self-expression, individuality, creativity and personal growth in a positive learning environment.

Caitlin Schmidt is starting her second year at Eastside. Though she started off wanting to teach everything, she realized her passion for music in high school. Her choir teacher fostered her growth as a leader and musician, and always encouraged her to be herself. Now she utilizes her role as a music teacher to spread her belief that everyone has the ability to help others and spread goodness. Her goal with students across all grades is to Create, Perform, Respond, and Connect to music in various ways. This is all done through various instruments, songs, dances, acting, composing, and listening. To allow this learning to flourish, she embraces her role to create a safe and welcoming environment where students can freely express themselves and grow with each experience.
