

FCIS WEBINAR | The Role of School Leadership in Mitigating Cybersecurity Risk

ALEX INMAN is the founder of Educational Collaborators (EC), a global edtech consulting and professional learning firm. EC is a partner of companies such as Google, Microsoft, Lenovo, HP, CDWG, Best Buy and others. A 20 year veteran of independent schools, Alex has been a classroom teacher, edtech coordinator, and CIO. In 2012, The National School Board Association named Inman as the first independent school educator on their “20 to Watch” list of national education leaders.

SHANDOR SIMON serves as the Director of Technology at the Latin School of Chicago. In his tenure at Latin, Simon has focused on technology infrastructure, databases, technical support, educational technology, and computer science. He led the effort to build a JK-12 Computer Science program and create a Makerspace. Prior to joining Latin in 1999, he worked at the University of Chicago, including four years at the University of Chicago Laboratory Schools where he was the first full-time technology employee and built the Information Systems department from the ground up. He serves on the board of the Lake Michigan Area Independent Schools (LMAIS), the CybatiWorks Advisory Board, and the Blackbaud K-12 Advisory Board.
