A Message from the President

DEAR ALUMNI AND FRIENDS OF CENTRAL CATHOLIC,

What constitutes a 'Field of Dreams'?

When the campaign to build the new synthetic turf athletic field began in October 2013, I focused my attention on the architect's design and getting contractors in place. The goal was to have the field ready for the start of 2014 Fall sports. I'm proud to say that the goal has been achieved! While meetings and emails on the project became a regular part of my routine, the conversations remained focused on the dreams held by generations of the Central family. It was not just a field being built, but a new place for the spirit of the School to come alive.

Besides being an aesthetically beautiful addition, the athletic field has brought new life to a part of the campus which went largely unnoticed. With practices and games keeping it in constant use, the noise level after school has risen significantly and we are enjoying every minute of it!

In many ways, I look at the School itself as a 'field of dreams'. The value of family spirit is an important one in the Marist world as faculty and staff together work hard to make the students feel at home. We strive daily to create an environment which nurtures their hopes, challenges them to be unafraid to take risks and celebrates their God-given uniqueness. The legacy of Central has been built by our alumni who have shared their diverse gifts and taken the opportunity to make their dreams a reality.

The Annual Report of Philanthropy enclosed in this issue recognizes the faithful support of our alumni and benefactors, who partner with us in the dream of Central's founder, Br. Florentius. On behalf of our students, let me express my gratitude to each of you who has assisted us in fulfilling the dream.

Achieving a dream often requires the help of many caring and compassionate individuals. In the Alumni Spotlight, you will read about Brad Damphousse '00 and his ingenuity in transforming web technology and social networking into a vehicle which unites people in making possible their hopes and dreams.

Now at CCHS, it is time to look for new opportunities to strengthen "...the school we love..." and do so with a strong commitment and perseverance. Let us work together to imagine new ways of creating a vibrant future for Central and our students.

In Christ's love,

Br. Richard J. Carey, FMS
President

The 76th Commencement of Central Catholic High School honored the manifold accomplishments of 301 young men and women who expended every collective ounce of their energy, effort and enthusiasm over four years to successfully write new and memorable chapters in the storied history of CCHS. Coming from 33 different cities and towns, the nations of China and South Korea, and diverse backgrounds and ethnicities, the Class of 2014 distinguished itself with achievements and leadership in academics, active and responsive faith, the arts, sciences, athletics, co-curriculars, and in the process raised school and family spirit among all four-year levels to exhilarating heights.

98% of the Class of 2014 will be furthering their education at 123 different institutions of higher learning in 23 states and the District of Columbia – with 2% honoring our country with service in branches of military. The members of the Class of 2014 accepted over $12 million in scholarships for their college studies. 55% of the class participated in Advanced Placement classes with 93.8% of the AP students earning competency scores or higher, compared with national competency results of 61% in the US and 72% in Massachusetts. Sixty (60) graduates of the Class of 2014 earned AP exam scores bestowing on them the designations of AP Scholar, AP Scholar With Honor, AP Scholar With Distinction and National AP Scholar.

The faith and compassion of the Class of 2014 is clearly witnessed by the 13,000+ hours of volunteer service they selflessly gave to over 100 educational, social service and charitable organizations. Through their efforts in the Catwalk4Cancer Fashion Show to benefit the Jimmy Fund and Dana Farber Cancer Research, and the Christmas Project to help 50 local destitute families, the Class of 2014 raised nearly $50,000 this year, in addition to the monies willingly sacrificed in the daily Missions Collections.

The Class of 2014 set positive examples of reverent involvement in the eight school community masses held this year, prayed the rosary after school in the Chapel, and led various retreats and encounters for underclassmen. And of course, through pep rallies, leading the "Red Sea" of fans at games and Spirit Week, they demonstrated the astounding power of CCHS spirit.

In the arts, the Concert and Jazz Bands gave stellar seasonal concerts raising the level of their already strong talents, while the performing arts talents of the class were once again magically displayed in the Theatre Guild's sold-out productions of "Once Upon a Mattress" and "Valentines and Mistletoe." The largest Student Art Exposition ever held at CCHS took place in May where nearly every inch of the hallowed halls displayed the painting, drawing, sculpting and photographic talents of the Class of 2014.

Led by the student-athletes of 2014, Raider athletic teams claimed championship victories 12 times. The Raider Varsity Football team, under head coach Chuck Adamopoulos, not only won the MVC League championship, but captured the first-ever sole

The Class of 2014 celebrated their Baccalaureate Mass on May 22 at St. Mary Church. Witnessed by over 2,300 family and friends in the CCHS Memorial Gymnasium, diplomas were awarded to the Class of 2014 by Br. Richard Carey, FMS, President, at the 76th Commencement Exercises on May 23. The graduates were honored to be joined in celebration by members of the Class of 1964 as they commemorated their 50th anniversary. In a touching and deserving tribute, the Class of 2014 dedicated their Florentian Yearbook to the husband and wife team of Mr. Jarrod Brown '98, Math Teacher and Coach, and to Mrs. Ashleigh Brown '00, English and Performing Arts teacher.

ALL ABOUT CROWD APPEAL

GoFundMe.com staff at work in their San Diego office

Brad Damphousse '00, Co-Founder and CEO of GoFundMe.com

Griffin was homeless for years but through enormous strength of determined effort and laser-like focus he earned Valedictory Honors at his high school graduation. Admitted into college, he was in dire need of financial help. He received a gift of $109,000 for his college fund.

Shortly before his wedding, Jon disarmed a shooter at Seattle Pacific University, saving many lives. He received a "thank you" gift of $50,000 to start a life with his new bride.

Christina and her baby, trapped in their apartment as it burned out-of-control, cradled her son in her arms and jumped from a three story window. Though her child was unhurt, her injuries incurred staggering medical bills. Christina was blessed with a compassionate gift of $40,000.

Griffin, Jon, Christina and thousands of others with deeply personal stories of aspiration, compassion, courage or need, have had their prayers answered by Brad Damphousse '00, their benefactor – of sorts.

In 2010, Brad Damphousse '00, CEO and Co-Founder of GoFundMe.com, along with his partner and friend, Andrew Ballester, created and launched the world's largest "crowd-funding" site. "Crowdfunding" is the practice of funding a cause by raising small amounts of money from a large number of people using the internet and social media. With GoFundMe.com, ordinary people have the ability to raise money online for important events in their lives such as tuition expenses, medical bills, weddings, funerals, memorials, volunteer missions, foreign travel, by openly inviting others who care about their personal cause to contribute support.

#CentralCatholic

A long line of family alumni, including uncle James Griffin '47, cousin Roger Damphousse '58, father Ray '66 and brother Jay '97, led Brad to be eager to attend CCHS. Rewinding to his days and lessons at Central Catholic, Brad Damphousse '00 recalls his burgeoning interest in digital media and marketing being ignited by CCHS teachers and classes. "The teachers and coaches at Central Catholic never let you drop the ball – accountability, sincere effort and good decorum in class and athletics, and in all you do is one of the permanent hallmarks of the superb education Central Catholic offers."

In 1998, in the Website Design Class led by Mrs. Jodi Linnehan-Kriner, Brad found himself appreciating the vast potential of the rapidly expanding internet and envisioning the benefits of exponential growth in personal computing power. With his classmates, Damphousse amassed the coding and programming skills to assist in creating Central's first website.

Damphousse speaks in the superlative of his math teacher, Mr. Vin Pastore, and his influence on Brad's personal development. "Mr. Pastore was a maestro when it came to getting students to toe the line and focus their energy and effort on the subject matter. He always knew the right thing to say at just the right time, quietly and tactfully, encouraging his students to put forth energy and a diligent effort – yet masterfully, he permitted enough fun to intervene with the serious. It's a lesson I carry with me today in my management style."

In Brad's CCHS senior year, the New Media Design major at Boston's Emerson College captured his nascent interests. He found his groove there with a double major in both New Media Design and Marketing, overloaded his class schedule each term and graduated in three years. Damphousse is clear on the sources of his intense motivation. "My academic focus got serious when I arrived at Central Catholic, I learned discipline, time management, and that there are consequences when your effort is lacking. The lessons of hard work, persistence, self-discipline and goal-setting which I learned from watching my parents working two jobs, then going back to school, raising children, taught me that procrastination was not an option."

#OnTheFrontier

In 2004, Brad joined a Boston advertising firm, but soon found the bureaucracy and office politics to be stifling, and was convinced that his passions were now beckoning him to innovative projects in the new world of digital media. Saving up a nest egg, he relocated to San Diego and took website design work for small start-ups.

In 2005 at age 23, Damphousse found an intriguing design position in a start-up company focused on consumer internet products. His design skills led him to being elevated to manage a team of 30. His creative energies once again were unfulfilled.

Damphousse, at 26, told himself it was time to start living his own dreams and put all that he'd learned into creating a novel venture in the world of web-based products. "I'm a believer in the notion that the earlier you know what you don't want to do in life, the better," explains Damphousse.

#AHAMoment

In 2008, wanting to save for a vacation with his wife, Brad experienced difficulty setting up an online savings account. He wondered wouldn't it be great if there were an easy web-based savings account – and wouldn't it be astoundingly more beneficial if it gave others in your circle of family or friends the ability to help you reach your financial goal?

"I thought that it should be very easy for family and friends living in other parts of the country to come together and, if they wished, contribute online towards any of life's important moments," reveals Damphousse. A further thought was a short leap – a web-based product of this type, if it could be made practical – would allow anyone else with an interest, not just family and friends, to contribute to what is important to you in your life.

#WinningBusinessModel

Swayed by Damphousse's vision in the Fall of 2008, Andrew Ballester, a former hi-tech colleague, took the leap of faith and together they formed a web business, "Create A Fund." With Damphousse in the designing and marketing role and Ballester, the software developer, they experimented with several iterations of the idea. "Create A Fund" eventually evolved into an efficient fundraising vehicle for small non-profits who would pay a subscription fee for the ability to tell their story and raise funds via the worldwide web. "Create A Fund" also offered a basic option for individuals seeking web-based financial support for personal causes. Over the course of the next two years, Damphousse and Ballester, while fine-tuning "Create A Fund", found that the overwhelming usage of "Create A Fund" came from users who flowed to the basic option. "Through successive iterations we found our product-market fit. That's the best way to discover what your customers want," explains Damphousse.

Recognizing this winning direction, in 2010 Damphousse and Ballester re-branded and re-launched GoFundMe.com to the world. With GoFundMe.com, an individual could digitally express their personal cause online for the world to see, set up an account, and then through various digital media, such as Facebook, Twitter and email contacts, inform family, friends and the general public of their request for financial support.

For efficiency and ease of use by customers, Damphousse and Ballester decided that GoFundMe.com would offer a free sign-up to users, with only a 5% fee deducted in real time from the money raised. Serendipitously, the online payment industry had developed efficiencies, making possible seamless credit card payment options for consumers. GoFundMe's payment processor deducts a small service charge from contributions and 30 cents per transaction, again in real-time.

GoFundMe's goal is to put the money in the pockets of the user as fast as possible and with total transparency. The user can withdraw funds directly to their bank account or by check at any time. To earn the trust of every user and distinguish itself from the emerging field of competitors, it was important to Damphousse and Ballester that GoFundMe make clarity, ease, and transparency absolutely paramount. To emphasize this, GoFundMe offered a "5-minute guarantee" from their customer service team – a real response from a real person in 5 minutes or less.

Brad points out that being first in any field goes a long way because you learn about your customers early on. As the two entrepreneurs learned more about their users they were able to give customers the best experience possible.

#ExponentialSurge

Since 2011 GoFundMe's growth trajectory has been nearly vertical. In 2012, GoFundMe raised $28.8 million for its users, while in 2013 funds raised by users nearly quadrupled to $130 million. Today, GoFundMe raises over $1.5 million each day for personal causes. 2014 projections see funds raised by users surpassing $500 million! The rate of growth is so fast at present that the company doubles its monthly donation volume every 6 months.

Damphousse understands that societal trends in the United States have provided very fertile ground for GoFundMe's extraordinary success. Despite the fact that families are more spread out than ever before, and also transient nature of today's work environments, the reality is that extended families and personal friends still do love and care for each other, and want to help in important matters of life.

#StayingOnTop

GoFundMe.com intends to remain a market leader. Damphousse is convinced by the evidence, "This is only the beginning – the opportunity is massive because fundraising is involved in so many aspects of our lives. We'll continue to improve GoFundMe so that our product is perfect for every person, parent, teacher, coach, patient, volunteer, athlete, artist and entrepreneur. We also expect to see greater international usage as GoFundMe increases in popularity."

Named a finalist for "Entrepreneur of the Year" in 2013 by Entrepreneur Magazine, Damphousse emphasizes, "At its heart, GoFundMe.com is a story-telling platform that allows people to invite family and friends to support one another online. Donors are able to give in the most efficient and targeted way possible – and in turn – are becoming part of the story themselves."

Brad is especially proud of the role GoFundMe.com played in the recovery efforts of so many families in the Northeast from the devastation of Hurricane Sandy and the critical assistance offered to individual victims of the Boston Marathon bombings. His roots in New England remain strong, as do Brad's values, which took root in his family upbringing and in his Marist education at Central Catholic.

To this day, Brad, as well as his wife and family, dedicate part of their busy lives in the San Diego community as volunteers in "Young Life" – a program that introduces high school and college-age youth to the example and teachings of Jesus Christ as a model for a life of true meaning.

Golden Anniversary – 50th Reunion of the Class of 1964

Each year as part of Commencement Week at Central Catholic, the school community honors its Golden Alumni Class with a gala celebration in recognition of the 50th Anniversary of their CCHS graduation. This past May the Class of 1964 gathered 34 strong on May 22-24 for three days of renewing friendships, reminiscing and laughing about their exploits in the “good old days” at CCHS, as well as catching up on decades of life thereafter.

The celebration kicked off with a Golf Outing and Luncheon on May 23 at the Merrimack Valley Golf Club, Methuen, followed by an evening Cocktail Reception at Jocelyn's Restaurant & Lounge in Salem, NH, where remembrance and camaraderie continued to be rekindled. On May 23 the Class of 1964 enjoyed a day revisiting the CCHS campus, for many the first time since graduating, where they were treated to a “welcome home” breakfast, walked the halls of their alma mater and were incredulously proud of the Central Catholic of 2014. At the 50th Anniversary luncheon, Br. Richard Carey, FMS, CCHS president, awarded a Golden Anniversary diploma and golden medallion to each '64 alum. Returning in the evening to the 2014 Commencement Exercises, the Class of 1964 was honored with special Golden Anniversary recognition at the graduation ceremonies. Capping off the 1964 Golden Anniversary festivities, 1964 classmates and their guests gathered on May 24 for the 50th Anniversary Reunion Dinner once again at Jocelyn's Restaurant and Lounge – truly a night to remember!

In a generous gesture of gratitude for the life-long benefits they derived from their Central Catholic years, the members of the Class of 1964 made a collective gift of over $25,000 in establishing the Class of 1964 Endowed Scholarship which will provide immediate tuition support for deserving CCHS students in perpetuity, with promises to add to this fund over the years. The students of Central Catholic will be forever grateful for this thoughtful scholarship gift!

Central Catholic is truly a family and I am excited to be a part of it.”

“As Associate Director of Alumni, I seek to find many satisfying ways for alumni to participate in the great work that happens every day at Central. Whether it is at an event, through our publications, or during a visit to the School, I hope to give alumni the opportunity to witness how Central remains true to the ideals of the Marist Brothers while preparing today's young men and women for all aspects of the 21st Century.”

“I'm in the process of getting to know the CCHS alumni, so please be in touch. I would be thrilled to meet for a cup of coffee, lead a tour of the school or chat over the phone.”

Raider “Field of Dreams” Becomes a Reality

Like the cornfield in Iowa, it started with a dream. However, Central Catholic’s “field of dreams”, the new synthetic turf athletic field, lies on the corner of Hampshire and Auburn Street in Lawrence. The dusty parcels, which for many years had been home to the original CCHS wood-framed school building on Auburn Street and the former Essex County Jail, have been transformed into the new home for Central’s field sports. For decades Central Catholic student-athletes had dreamed one day of competing on their own home field on campus. Now that dream has become a reality!

The new multi-sport synthetic turf field is the home field for Central’s soccer, field hockey, lacrosse, freshmen, sophomore and JV football teams and serves as a practice field for varsity football, which continues to play its home games at Veterans’ Memorial Stadium in Lawrence.

Through the generosity of great friends, hundreds of alumni, our students and Central Catholic families, the visionary direction of school leadership, and the dedicated efforts of the staff of the Institutional Advancement Office, the $2 million Raider “Field of Dreams” is now a stunning addition to Central’s athletic facilities. The entire Central Catholic community is sincerely grateful and will always be indebted to each and every benefactor in our Raider “Field of Dreams” campaign.

CCHS is profoundly grateful to Raider Field’s two major benefactors: the Telemachus A. and Irene Demoulas Foundation and for the generous gift of $250,000 from Joseph ’87 and Samantha Faro, Tuscan Kitchen and Market and Tuscan Brands. Extensive support has and continues to come in from hundreds of alumni, local businesses, students and past and current Central families.

“This fabulous addition to Central’s campus, and real gift to our students for decades to come, could not have happened without the foresight, kindness and generosity of so many good-hearted people, and is testimony to the many individuals who over the years believed and persevered in this vision,” acknowledged Br. Richard Carey, FMS, Central’s president.

Raider Multi-Sport Synthetic Turf Athletic Field and Commemorative Terrace

THANK YOU! – ON BEHALF OF OUR STUDENT-ATHLETES & COACHES!

The athletic complex, designed by Huntress Sports, Andover, includes a regulation-play synthetic turf surface, complete with energy efficient sports lighting, spectator grandstand, restrooms and equipment storage facilities, sound system and surrounded by safety and security fencing. Gino Baroni '74, Trident Project Advisors and Development Group, Salem, NH, who served as Central's project manager, states "Dave Mermelstein of our offices and Steve Welsh, CCHS Director of Buildings & Grounds, working with Huntress Sports and Green Acres Landscape Construction, the general contractor, did an extraordinary job redeveloping a tight urban site into a beautiful and highly functional asset on the school's campus."

Student-athletes in football, soccer and field hockey have been genuinely thrilled to play and practice on the new Raider Field with the first varsity and sub-varsity games having taken place in October. Lacrosse players are eagerly anticipating Spring competition on Raider Field. Physical education outdoor classes will actively have use of the field facility. "Our student-athletes and coaches are totally excited and proud when they step on the field as it hits them that this is a place the Raiders now call home. It is almost a sense of disbelief that this beautiful, state-of-the-art facility is part of their campus. Our alumni, too, are awestruck when they see it for the first time," effuses Ernie DiFiore, Central's AD.

Central Catholic extends its sincere gratitude to the City of Lawrence, Mayor Daniel Rivera and the staff of various city departments, as well as to our neighbors in the Arlington District for the encouragement and cooperation they have shown in this important venture.

We invite all our alumni and friends to visit Central's campus to marvel at the new Raider Field, and perhaps take in a soccer, field hockey, lacrosse or football game. Athletic schedules can be found on the CCHS website, www.centralcatholic.net, and click on the "Athletics" tab.

YOU CAN HELP OUR RAIDER TEAMS SCORE! RAIDER "FIELD OF DREAMS" NEARS ITS $2 MILLION GOAL

Investing in Excellence

Annual Giving – The 2013-14 Central Catholic Fund

▲ Albert "Al" Peterson '50

The 2013-14 Central Catholic Fund experienced a banner year thanks in large part to the generous gesture of Albert C. "Al" Peterson '50. Peterson pledged $50,000 to match new and increased gifts to the Central Catholic Annual Fund through June 2014. "Al" was pleased and proud to complete his generous pledge as new and increased gifts to the Central Catholic Fund totaled $93,917. The Central Catholic community extends its heartfelt gratitude and deepest appreciation to Al Peterson for his challenge gift and for the generosity of thousands of alumni and friends whose loyalty and affection for CCHS have made the Central Catholic Fund FY 14 such a genuine success!

WHAT IS THE CENTRAL CATHOLIC FUND – INVESTING IN EXCELLENCE?

Unrestricted gifts to "Investing In Excellence" support every aspect of Central's premier signature college preparatory curriculum, as well as CCHS' commitment to the fine and performing arts, athletics and the abundance of extracurricular clubs and activities. The Fund, through restricted gifts, supports students who are in need of tuition aid within the "Fulfilling the Promise – Student Sponsorship Program."

All gifts made by Dec. 31 are deductible on your 2014 tax returns.

The 2014-15 Central Catholic Fund has kicked off!

Gifts, large or small from alumni of all ages, parents and past parents, as well as friends of CCHS will provide Central with the ability to make the total educational experience more excellent each year for every young man and woman. Our 2014-2015 fund goal is a very ambitious $550,000. Every gift matters, every day, to every student!

We can reach this goal only with your help. Please participate by making a gift (no gift is too small!) to the 2014-15 Central Catholic Fund by using the enclosed business reply envelope or visiting us online at www.centralcatholic.net/give. Making a gift every year, makes a difference every day! Thank you!

NEW RECURRING GIFT OPTION: A Convenient Way to Support CCHS

"I meant to make a gift to Central Catholic but my life got so busy, it slipped my mind."

There is an answer for this common lament. With the new Recurring Gift option, supporting the Central Catholic Fund has never been more simple and convenient. The Office of Institutional Advancement offers automated giving for those wishing to add convenience and simplicity to gift-giving.

On the CCHS website, www.centralcatholic.net/give, a Recurring Gift option now appears for anyone who may find this a convenient way to support CCHS. If you would like to make an automated, recurring monthly gift, please fill in the information as requested at www.centralcatholic.net/give and CCHS will set up your monthly gift. Your recurring gift will be charged to your credit card automatically.

PLEASE NOTE: The "Start Date" is the date that your first gift will be charged to your credit card. If you have any questions about setting up your recurring gift, email: tstott@centralcatholic.net or call Tammy Stott at 978-682-0260 x635, Data Analyst/Office Manager. Thank you for making CCHS one of your giving priorities!

1959, 1964 & 1971 Reunion Classes Reach Forward With Endowed Scholarships

Class Reunions are always fun as classmates celebrate reaching back in time to reminisce, share memories of exploits, friendships, teachers and unforgettable happenings in and out of the classroom.

The Classes of 1959, 1964 and 1971 have found a way to create a legacy in their reunions that reaches forward to ensure future Central Catholic students have the opportunity to build similar memories and benefits during their years at CCHS by establishing an Endowed Alumni Class Scholarship. An Endowed Class Scholarship Fund, once it reaches $25,000, will perpetually endow a partial scholarship to a deserving student each year. As the Fund increases, so will the benefit to the deserving student in need. The Endowed Class Scholarship can be dedicated in memory of deceased members of the class or another desired commemoration meaningful to the members.

The Office of Institutional Advancement staff can provide the necessary assistance to begin an Endowed Class Scholarship.

On behalf of Central's deserving students, we are sincerely grateful to the thoughtful and generous members of the classes of 1959, 1964 and 1971.
