Purpose

University Canada West's admission policies and regulations are intended to identify students who are best able to be successful in their academic studies and contribute to the university community. This policy outlines the general criteria and regulations for admission to UCW's undergraduate and graduate programs.

Scope

This policy applies to applicants to UCW's academic preparation courses as well as undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Policy Statement

University Canada West accepts qualified applicants who meet the stated admission requirements. The University has clearly articulated admission requirements that support the likelihood of success in undergraduate and graduate programs and adhere to necessary academic standards. In addition, English is the language of instruction at the University and, therefore, successful applicants must demonstrate English language proficiency levels essential for academic success in a Canadian university.

The University reserves the right to set enrolment limits, although the intention is to admit all qualified students.

University Canada West shall constitute an Admissions Committee to provide recommendations and review to the Admissions process as guided by this policy. Terms of reference for the Committee are established by the President in consultation with Academic Council.
