FAFSA Question: Marital Status

Single Parents

⑩ Only the custodial parent is required to report their info (based on which parent the student resided with the most during the previous 12 months)

Two-Parent Households

⑩ If both Parents live together, married or not, both must report their info/income, even if taxes are filed separately

Remarried Parents

⑩ Stepparent info/income is required if the custodial parent is remarried, even if taxes are filed separately

FAFSA Question: Changes in Income

- What if my current income is different from income reported on 2018 taxes?
 - Must report income from 2018 tax information
 - If there is a special circumstance, reach out to college financial aid offices for help

FAFSA Question: Reporting Assets

Account Balances

- ⑩ Total cash, savings, check account balances
- ⑩ Custodial (UGMA, UTMA) accounts are considered assets of the student

Investments net worth

- ⑩ Retirement plans, annuities, life insurance and value of primary residence are excluded
- ⑩ 529 plans, for all children, must be reported as parent investment

Business values

- ⑩ Only include if business has more than 100 employees

Financial Aid and Scholarships

The cost of a college education is a matter of concern for many students and their families, many of whom would not be able to attend NYU without financial assistance. Regardless of your family's financial circumstances, paying for college will require a substantial commitment of your resources over the next several years. While the primary responsibility for meeting college costs rests with the student

Financial Aid Calculator

This tool may help provide you with estimated eligibility of need-based financial aid from Cornell. Before entering your income and asset information, please keep in mind:

- The calculator is intended for undergraduate applicants living and working in the U.S.
- All estimated financial aid is based on demonstrated financial need; there are no merit-based awards available from Cornell.
- The resulting information is only as reliable as the data you provide.
- These are estimates only; the Office of Financial Aid and Student Employment is the final authority on your financial aid award.
- Divorced, separated or were never married, both households (including stepparents) should run calculations and the combined results are the estimated expected family contribution. Cornell applies this methodology to remarried parents.

LEAVE CALCULATOR

Welcome to the Net Price Calculator

Welcome to Syracuse University's Net Price Calculator. This tool will help you estimate your eligibility for financial aid and your out-of-pocket expenses. Best of all, it demonstrates just how affordable an SU education can be. If you're not already familiar with SU's value and vision, we encourage you to read more. You can take a virtual tour, see what's happening on campus, and get a taste of the energy and opportunities that await.

The calculator is a great planning tool. It provides an early indication of how much and what types of financial aid you might qualify for if you were a college freshman attending school full-time in the academic year indicated. Younger students and their parents can use it too, to learn about college costs and receive early financial aid information. It's also useful in creating "what if" scenarios based on expected family income and anticipated expenses. No matter where you are in the planning process, you'll be able to make more informed decisions about when and how much to save.

HOW DOES IT WORK? The calculator reviews the information you provide to estimate the amount of grants, scholarships and other financial aid that is likely to be available to you. Here's the easiest way to think about the number (called "net price") that you'll receive:
