In the figuring out and falling down and overcoming, we find resilience. In finding new ways to tackle the world’s problems, we unlock truth. In rallying around others, we stand for something bigger than ourselves. And in building up all the pieces of who we are, we make our whole selves even fuller.

In the process of making hundreds of decisions every day, and choosing to be honorable, good people, we become great leaders.

AT CULVER ACADEMIES, LEADERS ARE ALWAYS in the making.
As a boarding school, Culver offers an opportunity unlike that of typical secondary schools. Here, students learn to develop leadership by meeting challenges head on and placing others before themselves. Values-based and mission-driven, we honor Henry Harrison Culver’s vision with every person who passes through our halls, in a school rich in tradition and committed to excellence in all we do. Culver students take learning seriously, but they also enjoy a high degree of freedom and fun. They embrace responsibility, service, and teamwork as essential to becoming leaders of character.

THE CULVER MISSION
Culver educates its students for leadership and responsible citizenship in society by developing and nurturing the whole individual—mind, spirit, and body—through integrated programs that emphasize the cultivation of character.

LED BY ONE MISSION. SHARED BY TWO ACADEMIES. CARRIED ACROSS generations.

Culver Military Academy
Since its founding in 1894, Culver Military Academy (CMA) has prepared young men for lives of purpose and impact. CMA graduates join a prestigious heritage that includes entrepreneurs and artists, scientists and scholars, and military and political leaders.

Culver Girls Academy
Culver Girls Academy (CGA) welcomed its first students in 1971. Since then, it has graduated hundreds of empowered and enlightened scholars, innovators, and executives, who have gone on to successful careers and positions all over the world.

Welcome TO THE HOME OF LEADERS

Located on the north shore of Lake Maxinkuckee, Culver Academies encompasses 1,800 acres of green hills and pristine woodlands. The Collegiate Gothic architecture that defines our campus includes world-class educational and athletic facilities that evoke an Ivy League university rather than a high school.

Less than two hours from Chicago and Indianapolis, our location in Culver, Indiana, offers the best of both worlds: a natural environment with endless opportunities for hands-on scholarship, as well as access to two large cities with everything that entails.
Truth and wisdom: these are the rewards for truly engaged learners.

At Culver, we believe that academic excellence is more than rote memorization—it goes beyond knowledge of a subject and can’t be contained by a single source. It’s a collaborative process that challenges students to be active participants in their own intellectual development.

There is nothing passive about a Culver education.

The 21st century’s most complex problems don’t have expected answers. That’s why we challenge our students and equip them with the tools for success. Our faculty are gifted scholars with a zeal for learning and teaching, and a knack for bringing out the utmost in everyone. They frame essential questions and encourage students to guide inquiry and discussion, helping them grow into independent, critical thinkers who are unafraid to work together to achieve a solution.

Unique Learning Opportunities

Leadership Education
Headquartered in the new Schrage Leadership Center, this age-targeted curriculum focuses on servant-leadership, character development, design thinking, ethics, and mindfulness.

Ron Rubin School for the Entrepreneur
Crafted around action learning, this program includes a gourmet coffee and tea shop, entirely managed by students.

Global Pathways Spring Program
Over 100 students travel the world each year, participating in cultural exchange and service opportunities.

Horsemanship Program
We have taught wisdom, courage, moderation, and justice on horseback since 1897, and our equestrians have made 18 presidential inaugural appearances.

IF WE WERE GIVEN THE ANSWERS,

HOW WOULD WE EVER GROW?

To see the world differently, we tackle problems from every side. Our faculty are exceptional at bringing together various disciplines to heighten student understanding of a concept—and to provide altogether different ways of thinking about the world.
We believe that an inclusive community is a healthy community, a place where people overcome their natural inclination to adhere to the familiar.

Because we know that considering one another’s perspective is the hallmark of a great servant-leader, and a true sign of a good person.

Belonging is an essential element in building a just community where each individual can bring their full potential. People can only invest in Culver when they feel encouraged to engage the core of their identity and values. That’s why we’re committed to providing opportunities for our students to embrace their common humanity through shared experiences.

In sharing our differences and serving others, we work to form the future.

I will promote the well-being of others by respecting differences with kindness and open-mindedness.

At Culver Academies, we enroll students from across the United States and around the world, regardless of gender, race, nationality, or religion. Our goal is to build a diverse community of accomplished, well-rounded students—young people whose differing backgrounds, experiences, and perspectives will enrich all we have to offer.

Diversity and Intercultural Life
Our Student Diversity Council facilitates discussions, hosts celebrations, and strives to cultivate a community where inclusion is the standard operating procedure. This is our guiding philosophy in fostering belonging for everyone who calls Culver home.

Global Citizenship
The Global Pathways Spring Program is a service-learning and cultural exchange opportunity for students, faculty, staff, and patrons who wish to learn about other cultures and live responsibly as global citizens.

Global Studies Institute
Through the nonpartisan Global Studies Institute, Culver strives to be a leader among secondary schools in the field of international studies. The Institute brings prominent scholars, policymakers, and thinkers to campus to discuss the great challenges facing the world community.

Our students have traveled and served in locations all over the globe through the Global Pathways Spring Program.
Culver graduates join the Culver Legion, a global network of nearly 19,000 alumni. Simply put, they’re never alone. No matter what the college or city, there is sure to be a Culver connection. And those relationships often prove invaluable for creating new friendships and gaining access to professional, educational, and social opportunities all over the world.

While these leaders in their communities and professions may have moved onto the next challenge, their hearts remain at Culver. Truly, their generosity is one of the greatest reasons why our academies continue to flourish. Whether it’s through campus visits, a “legacy” daughter or son, athletic events, or class reunions, Culver alumni stay engaged.

Over the past five years, our graduates have matriculated these schools and more:

- Boston College
- Bowdoin College
- Brown University
- Carnegie Mellon University
- Case Western Reserve University
- Colby College
- Columbia University
- Cornell University
- Dartmouth University
- Davidson College

Making strides and taking the next step toward success.

Our academies are a foundation for success, intentionally preparing our students for college and the world beyond. What starts on day one is reinforced and supported through our exceptional advisors, who prioritize getting to know students personally. Their care and attention to those personal details show in the college selection process.

Culver students are not only admitted to some of the finest colleges and universities in the nation, but they also choose the schools that best fit them—their professional goals, interests, and personalities.
At Culver, we know that excellence takes commitment and sacrifice, but it needs moderation to survive.

The whole self—wellness in mind, spirit, and body—is what makes our students so successful. Balancing duties and obligations, always striving for success but learning to handle failure with grace—that’s how we lead.

Every experience at Culver lays the foundation for what’s next. And each intentional activity or spontaneous moment, whether artistic, spiritual, or athletic, builds our students’ character. It’s how they find new strengths, and turn known skills into proven excellence.
We find ourselves in the process of speaking our minds.

expressing our hearts.
searching our souls.

Learning isn’t all books and serious business at Culver. It often looks like fun. A big part of the CMA and CGA experience is the chance to actively explore and mature: artistically, socially, and spiritually. Whatever leads you, you’ll find it at Culver.

Fine and Visual Arts
Culver students can develop and showcase their artistic talent across four disciplines: dance, music, theatre, and visual arts. Students may also choose to honor in each of these areas, further honing their craft.

Spiritual Life
The Spiritual Life Department offers a variety of integrated programs, traditional worship services, and contemplative practices, so students can develop their spirit, define their values, and demonstrate character and self-understanding.

Our student-athletes join more than 120 years of tradition in physical competition, sportsmanship, fellowship, and even championships. These are defining elements of the Culver experience, and we offer them for athletes at every level. All students are required to engage in physical activity as part of our mind-spirit-body ethos, from experienced competitors looking to test their mettle on the national stage, to more casual athletes seeking a fun new challenge.

At Culver, we believe leadership isn’t something you’re born with. It’s something you strive for.

It isn’t something you possess, but rather something you prove, every day. Day in and day out, in public and private moments, we have the opportunity to live with honor and courage.

This philosophy informs every aspect of the Culver experience. It’s in the training young cadets receive in the art of followership. And it’s in the girls’ prefect system, which teaches young women to learn from their experienced, older peers and take on leadership roles.

It’s the reason we were founded and why we exist today: to help our students become capable and confident in their paths forward, driven by both a passion for their unique interests and a commitment to change their communities for the better.
At Culver, leadership looks a lot like the student next to you, or the classmate in front of you. Our students are never far from someone who’s leading by example, and willing to show them the ropes. That’s what it’s like living among caring, committed peers.

Within a supportive network of classmates, faculty, counselors, and mentors, the young men and women of Culver forge lifelong connections. They quickly come to see our vast and beautiful campus as a home away from home, and their friends as a family.

Dorm Life

The strongest bonds are often forged in our residential halls. Our single-gender dorms (for girls) and barracks (for boys) are warm and inclusive communities. Here, students in the same unit become close friends, confidants, and study-mates—in short, people who rely on each other.
IN OURSELVES, AND IN EACH OTHER.

Here, leadership is no happy accident. Everything we do is intentional and part of a process that speaks for itself. You can recognize Culver graduates by their distinguishing characteristics:

LEADERSHIP
They lead their peers by example and with confidence.

CITIZENSHIP
They value a diversity of perspectives and embrace their role as global citizens.

CHARACTER
They act with integrity, embracing opportunities to practice kindness and resilience and to develop cultural humility.

WELL-BEING
They strive for excellence and know how to prioritize their time effectively, while maintaining a foundation of mental, physical, and spiritual wellness.

SCHOLARSHIP
They are rigorous scholars and resilient, critical thinkers.

COMMUNICATION
They communicate with a confidence and maturity that belies their age.

Cadet classes go backwards.

Think of them as military ranks, rather than school years. In CMA, a senior cadet is known as a first classman. A freshman cadet is known as a fourth classman.

Respect the wrap.

A half-wrap is a sash (blue, red, yellow, or green) worn around the waist by sword-bearing sergeants, members of honor organizations, and the CMA color guard.

A full-wrap is worn by first class officers for ceremonies, special formations, and guard duty.

CHECK THE NAME TAG.

CGA students’ name tags are color coded to represent their leadership status.

- Blue is for 9th and 10th grade leaders in training.
- White is worn by prefects.
- Green is worn by committee chairs.

It's not just what you wear.

- Infantry units wear blue and march with rifles.
- Artillery units wear red and ride in trucks and fire cannons.
- The band unit wears green and plays musical instruments.
- Cavalry units wear yellow and ride horses.

The CGA crest is a treasured symbol that has been worn on our girls’ blazers since 1971.
Go to the Shack.
And when you do, order a reveille burger and a chocolate milkshake. It’s the perfect meal for taking in the sunset over Lake Max.

Ordering out?
Wait at the gate.
Don’t be surprised to see delivery vehicles at the Logansport gate from some of Indiana’s best pizza, Mexican, and other restaurants.

B.R.C.
D.R.C.
S.R.C.

THEY ALL STAND FOR “FOOD.”

Technically, they mean breakfast roll call, dinner roll call, and supper roll call in our dining hall.
LET THE SPIRIT GAMES BEGIN!

It's a schoolwide athletic and skills competition that happens every autumn. Just make sure you pose for the celebratory photo jumping into Lake Max when you win.

HOLD WATER! CHECK IT DOWN!

These are just a couple of things you might hear your coxswain scream as you and your crew row your boat on Lake Max.
Actually, it happens at the conclusion of our much-anticipated Final Ball. It’s the official time when 11th graders are “ringed” by a 12th grader or a Culver graduate of their choice. A tradition that started in 1916, it represents the passing of leadership from one generation of CGA and CMA students to the next.
Back, back to Culver days, the song my heart sings ever,

No matter where I roam, ’tis Culver, Culver, Culver!

To hear the bugle call — old memories how they thrill me,

And proud am I of Culver — and to be a Culver grad.

Reveille means “wake up.”
Hear the bugler?
Hear the cannons?
Morning calls!

Taps means “lights out.”
On special occasions, our bugler will serenade you to sleep.

It’s our Culver song. And when you sing it, you have to shout “THRILL.”
