

Senior Trip to New York City

A chartered bus full of Fuqua School seniors, alums, and parents made their way to NYC on December 15th for a whirlwind tour of the Big Apple. US Head Jennings Custis led the annual excursion, introducing students to sights such as the Statue of Liberty, Wall St., and Times Square with its famous Christmas tree. During the five-day trip, the group had the chance to see multiple Broadway shows as well as the Radio City Rockettes. In addition to Madame Tussaud's Wax Museum and Madison Square Gardens, the group visited several locations in Central Park and went ice-skating at Bryant Park. They were also featured as audience members on Good Morning America's broadcast. It was a great bonding experience for the senior class and a welcome break after the semester's final exams.
