Employment Projections

Full-time workers age 25 and older without a high school diploma had median weekly earnings of $554 in the second quarter of 2018. That compares with $726 for high school graduates (no college) and $1,310 for those holding at least a bachelor's degree.

Selected percentiles of usual weekly earnings of full-time wage and salary workers age 25 and older, 2nd quarter 2018 averages

Source: U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Among college graduates with advanced degrees (master's or professional degree and above), the highest earning 10 percent of male workers—the 90th percentile—made $3,900 or more per week. Women in the 90th percentile with advanced degrees had weekly earnings of $2,625 in the second quarter of 2018.

Weekly earnings for the lowest paid 10 percent of men with advanced degrees—whose earnings were below the 10th percentile—were less than $856 in the second quarter. That was higher than the median earnings—the 50th percentile—of men who had completed high school but never attended college.

These data are from the Current Population Survey and are not seasonally adjusted. For more information, see "Usual Weekly Earnings of Wage and Salary Workers: Second Quarter 2018." Full-time workers usually work 35 hours or more per week at their sole or main job. The median or 50th percentile is the midpoint in the earnings distribution; half of workers earn more than the median and half earn less. Ten percent of workers have earnings below the upper limit of the 10th percentile, and 90 percent have higher earnings. Ninety percent of workers have earnings below the upper limit of the 90th percentile and 10 percent have higher earnings.

PLAN

To fill in all the blanks on the application form itself, you may have to dig up documents or get answers from your parents or guardians. Most students use online applications, but paper applications are usually available too. There are also services that let you complete one application online and submit it to several colleges like the Coalition Application, Common Application, and Universal College Application.

APPLYING FOR ADMISSION TO A COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Community colleges have a variety of two-year degrees and training in vocational areas. They can also provide the first two years of a four-year university education. There are no entry requirements for a community college other than having a high school diploma or proof of GED completion.

How to apply

1. Go to: <http://www.public.ctc.edu/applicantwebclient/applicant/>. Complete the online application. *Note that an ACT or SAT score is not required by community colleges, but an assessment can be scheduled after submitting your application.
2. Apply for financial aid. The FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) or WASFA (Washington Application for State Financial Aid) should be completed in by the priority deadline (can be found by checking school's website) and sent to the community college.
3. Meet with an academic advisor to evaluate your options, and learn about resources for college transfer or satisfying your degree requirements.

TRANSFERRING TO A FOUR YEAR UNIVERSITY

Students may spend the first one to two years of their continuing education at a community college and then transfer to a four-year school. Don't wait to start thinking about where you will transfer. You should research potential schools and programs that you might be interested in early on.

Make sure to visit your school's transfer center. All community colleges should have transfer centers on campus. This center will help you to identify schools that admit transfer students, or that have special agreements with your community college.

1. Associate of Arts or Science Degree

Can be earned at a community college and will satisfy the general education requirements for the first two years at many four-year institutions.

2. Know the Transfer Requirements

Your community college advisor will assist you in selecting the classes you will need to transfer to a four-year institution. It is to your benefit to keep in contact with the admissions office of the college you plan to attend.

APPLYING TO A TECHNICAL COLLEGE

Technical colleges are public, state-supported schools which provide job training, retraining, and upgrading to individuals 16 years of age or older.

There are five technical colleges in the state of Washington – Renton Technical College, Bates Technical College (Tacoma), Clover Park Technical College (Tacoma), Lake Washington Institute of Technology (Kirkland), and Bellingham Technical College.

Information for these schools can be found in the catalogs available from the Career Center or online. Some similar programs can be found at local community colleges.

Full time training programs range from twelve weeks to two years in length. The programs cover a range of occupations including dental assistant, mechanic, culinary arts, pre-engineering and more. Many classes are open-entry, allowing students with or without high school credentials to enter any time an opening occurs. Job training is considered complete when the student is considered employable.

Steps to Apply

1. Catalogs for technical colleges are available in the Career Center or online on the school's website.
2. Call the technical college and make an appointment to meet one of the admission counselors.
3. Decide on the program you prefer, obtain an application, indicating the program in which you wish to enroll.
4. Follow the steps outlined on the financial aid checklist; in particular, contact the financial aid person at the school you plan to attend, and submit the Financial Aid Form as indicated.
5. Pay applicable fees. If the program is "open enrollment", you will pay the full semester tuition prior to the beginning of the semester. If there is not an opening, you may be required to pay a waiting list fee.
6. Some programs have assessment test requirements so check with the college you are considering applying to, to learn about their enrollment requirements.
7. A start date for your program will be assigned unless you are on a waiting list, in which case you will be notified later of your start date.

APPLYING FOR ADMISSION TO A FOUR-YEAR COLLEGE OR UNIVERSITY

Getting started:

- Make sure you have taken the required entrance examinations like the ACT, SAT, or SAT Subject Tests.
- Check college websites and catalogs or Career Center resources to determine which test is required.
 - The SAT is required for some scholarship applications.

Apply to:

- Two which you know will accept you
- Two that interest you, which are not as competitive
- Two schools that interest you, but are a long shot

Remember, you might be just what that long shot is looking for!

Get an application:

- You can find the freshman college admission application by going on to the university's website.
- Some schools have their own separate application while other schools may use the Common Application.

Complete the application form:

- Carefully fill out every space on the form completely. If a question does not apply, state that in the space provided.
- Early Decision or Early Action programs are generally due by October 31 or November 15.
 - Deadline will vary per school so be sure to check when the application is due.
- Division I or Division II NCAA Athletics. To be eligible to participate in or receive an athletic scholarship from a Division I or Division II school, you must complete the "NCAA Initial Eligibility Packet". These are available in the Counseling office or online.
- Personal Recommendations – Not all applications require a personal recommendation. For those that do, follow the guidelines on the handout available in the Career Center. In many cases the person recommending you will mail their statement directly to the school in question. Allow the recommender 2-3 weeks to write the letter.
 - Consider mentioning to the recommender how many schools you are applying to in case you need multiple copies of their letter of recommendation.
- Personal Essay – Not all applications require an essay. Closely follow any guidelines provided on the applications. Some schools may require one long essay while others require a few short answers. Visit the Career Center for resource materials.
- Application Fee – Check your application instructions to determine the correct amount and follow payment instructions.
 - If you used a fee waiver to take the SAT, you may be eligible to use a fee waiver towards the application fee. See your Counselor or College & Career Specialist for an application fee waiver.
- YOU are responsible for the accuracy of your application.

Request a transcript from the registrar:

- Fill out a transcript request form. Stop by a few days later to pick up your official transcript.
- Mail your completed application, fee, transcript, and all required documents to the college(s) of your choice.

REMINDER:

Register for all tests in advance and be sure to give yourself time to prepare appropriately! If you have difficulty paying a registration fee, see the College & Career Specialist about a fee waiver.

Letters of Recommendation

Counselors, teachers and staff are happy to be asked to write letters of recommendation for students if you follow these guidelines when asking for letters:

- Ask for Letters of Recommendations early: September or October.
- Ask the person if they are willing to write a letter for you. Consider asking teachers from last year first as they know you best.
- Provide them with your high school resume and a completed "Letter of Recommendation-Student Information Worksheet"
- Ask when you should return to pick up the letter or provide the writer with a pre-addressed, stamped envelope.
- Expect a 2-3 week turn around time. In the months of November and December you need to allow additional processing time due to school closures for holidays & vacation.
- Check back to confirm your letter was sent or call the college to confirm they received it.
- Send a written thank you to the person writing your letter and tell them your plans for college by the spring.

Writing Application Cover Letters

You may need a cover letter for college and/or scholarship applications.

Make sure the cover letter is representative of your best work.

- The cover letter is the first impression of you. It gets read before the resume. A single grammar, punctuation, or spelling mistake could take you out of the running. Always ask at least one person to proofread your cover letter. Use quality paper and sign your letter in black pen.

Who should the cover letter be addressed to?

- Always write to a specific individual. You may need to call to find out the correct spelling and title of the person you will be sending your packet to.

Keep your cover letter to one page.

- Don't repeat what is in your resume. Use the cover letter to talk about things that don't fit in a resume, like a personal story highlighting an accomplishment.
- Don't forget to mention activities, honors, and special skills. Schools and scholarship organizations are looking for leadership, organization, critical thinking, teamwork, initiative, and the ability to influence others.

Keep a copy of your cover letter in a safe and easily accessible place.

- You may need to refer to what you wrote for other applications. Using old cover letters as templates is a great way to save time.

Purpose of the High School Resume

High School Resumes are used to highlight your achievements and accomplishments for Letters of Recommendation requests and scholarship applications.

Your resume should include the following:

- GPA & test scores (if available)
- School and community activities
- Honors and awards
- Work and volunteer experience
- Sports/Athletics

Keep your resume to one page (if possible): Use your Career Cruising Activities Resume or use this Resume Organizer.

The SAT

The SAT is a globally recognized college admission test that lets you show colleges what you know and how well you can apply that knowledge. It tests your knowledge of reading, writing and math — subjects that are taught every day in high school classrooms. Most students take the SAT during their junior or senior year of high school, and almost all colleges and universities use the SAT to make admission decisions.

Taking the SAT is the first step in finding the right college for you — the place where you can further develop your skills and pursue your passions. But SAT scores are just one of many factors that colleges consider when making their admission decisions. High school grades are also very important. In fact, the combination of high school grades and SAT scores is the best predictor of your academic success in college.

<https://sat.collegeboard.org/about-tests/sat>

What does the SAT test?

The SAT doesn't test logic or abstract reasoning. It tests the skills you're learning in school: reading, writing and math. Your knowledge and skills in these subjects are important for success in college and throughout your life.

- The reading section includes reading passages and sentence completions.
- The writing & language section includes multiple-choice questions based on passages with some accompanied by information table and charts.
- The mathematics section includes questions on linear equations, algebra, geometry, trigonometry analysis, and probability.
- The optional essay will ask you to explain how the author builds an argument

How can I do my best on the SAT?

The best way to get ready for the SAT is to take challenging courses, study hard, and read and write in and outside of the classroom.

Studies suggest that cramming and short-term prep can't substitute for hard work in school, but it's certainly a good idea for you to become familiar and comfortable with the test format and question types. That's why the best SAT practice is the PSAT/NMSQT®, which covers the same subjects under timed conditions.

You can also take advantage of free online practice tools, such as an online or printable practice test, sample questions, The Official SAT Question of the Day™ and more.

What is most important in college admission?

The SAT is just one factor among many that colleges use to get to know you better. It's best to keep the test in perspective and understand that it's only part of a comprehensive admission process that also recognizes other factors, like extracurricular activities and personal recommendations.

Every college and university uses a different combination of criteria for admission. Feel free to reach out to the schools you're interested in to understand their unique admission policies.

Which SAT questions make it onto the exam?

Every SAT question goes through a very careful review process before making it into your exam booklet. Each question that you see has been:

- Reviewed by a team of experts, including math and English teachers, to make sure that it reflects what most college-bound students are learning in school.
- Thoroughly tested to make sure that it is fair for students of all backgrounds and ethnicities.

Questions that don't make it through these steps will never show up on an actual exam.

1. Take the SAT again?

If you plan on taking the SAT again, the beginning of senior year is the best time. Research shows that students who take the SAT a second time usually improve their score.

2. Improve your performance

- Use My SAT Online Score Report to review your strengths and areas for improvement
- Visit SAT Skills Insight to understand the skills needed to take you to the next level
- Visit the SAT Practice section and be sure to sign up for The Official SAT Question of the Day @SAT Question on Twitter for daily practice.

3. Take SAT Subject Tests™

SAT Subject Tests measure your knowledge of a particular subject. If you continue to study the subject and take the test again, your score should reflect your increased knowledge.

4. Send scores to colleges and scholarship programs

Many colleges and universities have application deadlines in December or January of your senior year. If you haven't sent your scores to any institutions or if you would like to send more score reports, now is the time.

The ASVAB

What is the ASVAB?

The ASVAB is a multiple-aptitude battery that measures developed abilities and helps predict future academic and occupational success in the military.

With the ASVAB Career Exploration Program exam, it allows students to:

- Identify their skill strengths
- Discover work-related interest areas where students are most likely to succeed; and
- Access to a catalog of careers with relevant occupational data to help students develop an action plan

This exam is not only for students who are interested in the military. It is available for students who would like to see what their skill strengths are and to explore different career options. Students have the option to opt out of score release to the military.

This ASVAB exam is available for 10th-12th grade students.

Students who are interested in the military should contact the military branch recruiter of their interest to further discuss plan.

ASVAB Scoring

- Your scores in four critical areas -- Arithmetic Reasoning, Word Knowledge, Paragraph Comprehension and Mathematics Knowledge -- count towards your Armed Forces Qualifying Test (AFQT) score.
- The AFQT score determines whether you're qualified to enlist in the U.S. military.
- Your scores in the other areas of the ASVAB will determine how qualified you are for certain military occupational specialties and Enlistment Bonuses.
- A high score will improve your chances of getting the specialty/job and signing bonus you want.
- Scoring high on the ASVAB will require study and concentration. Check out these example and practice tests:
<https://www.asvabprogram.com/educators-test> | <http://www.asvabpracticetests.com>

The ASVAB is offered at least once a year at your high school. For test dates and times or questions, visit your College & Career Specialist.

The Apprenticeship Advantage

...earn while you learn!

What is apprenticeship?

Apprenticeship is a training program where you earn wages while you learn a skilled profession in a specific field, such as construction, health care, or culinary arts.

Apprenticeship combines classroom studies with on-the-job training supervised by a trade professional. Much like a college education, it takes several years to become fully trained in the occupation you choose. Unlike college though, as an apprentice you'll earn while you learn.

At first, you'll make less money than skilled workers, but as you progress, you'll get regular raises. Once you've mastered the craft, you'll receive the same wages as a professional.

Why choose apprenticeship?

Apprenticeship means real skills and real careers

► Proven success

Today's carpenters, electricians, plumbers, and sheet metal workers were yesterday's apprentices. And tomorrow's manufacturing technicians, educational assistants, and firefighters may be apprenticeship graduates as well.

You can find apprenticeship opportunities in most construction trades and in many other occupations. Apprenticeships in new occupations are being added all the time.

► Proven methods

Whatever your field of interest, you will be taught by experienced professionals. You'll take at least 144 hours of related classes each year. And, you'll have a chance to practice your new skills on the job while you are learning.

► Higher wages

Skilled trades pay more than unskilled work. That's why apprenticeships lead to higher wages. According to a survey by the Washington State Workforce Education and Training Coordinating Board, apprenticeship graduates earn an average of $58,000 per year plus benefits.

► Advancement potential

Apprenticeship graduates usually advance more rapidly than other workers, so higher-paying jobs come more quickly. Some apprentices move into supervisory positions within just a few years.

► Equal opportunity

Apprenticeship programs must provide equal opportunity to all who are interested. They are eager for qualified women and minority applicants.

► Valuable skills credential

When you complete your apprenticeship, you'll receive a graduation certificate valid anywhere in the U.S. that demonstrates you have the knowledge and skills needed for successful performance as a professional in that occupation.

Why not get started now?

Think about an occupation that makes the most of your special talents, and find out if there's an apprenticeship program in that occupation.

You'll need a high-school diploma, GED or equivalent, and basic reading and writing skills. Some programs require specific math training.

Contact a Department of Labor & Industries (L&I) Apprenticeship Consultant for assistance. They can give you tips to make the search easier and direct you toward an apprenticeship program that you might want to explore further.
