DAME ALLAN'S SCHOOLS PRIVACY NOTICE FOR PUPILS

You have a legal right to be informed about how we, Dame Allan's Schools (referred to as "the Schools", which comprises Dame Allan's Junior School and Nursery, Dame Allan's Boys' School, Dame Allan's Girls' School and Dame Allan's Sixth Form, registered charity number 1084965 and company number 4002372) use any personal information that we hold about you.

This privacy notice explains how we collect, store and use personal data about you as a pupil, including current and past pupils and pupils who apply to join the Schools.

We are the 'data controller' for the purposes of data protection law.

Our data protection co-ordinator is Mrs J. Taylor.

The personal data we hold

We hold some personal information about you to make sure we can help you learn and look after you when you are at the Schools.

For the same reasons, we get information about you from some other places too – like other schools, the local council and the government.

This information includes:

- Your contact details (your name, date of birth, address, telephone number, identification documents);

- Your academic records, including test and exam results;
- Your attendance records;
- Your characteristics, like your ethnic background or any special educational needs;
- Any medical conditions you have and who to contact if you are taken ill;
- Details of any issues about your behaviour and discipline and any exclusions you have received;
- Your records about any safeguarding issues;
- Records relating to sports, music and other extra-curricular activities undertaken by you, whilst at or when representing the Schools or other external organisations;
- References and other information given to us by schools you have attended before coming to the Schools and any professionals or organisations who have worked with or who continue to work with you;
- Information needed to help you when you leave the Schools, such as UCAS numbers, university applications, predicted grades and grades needed to secure an offer from a university or to apply for a job;
- Your destinations, when they leave the Schools, including the university you are going to attend and which course you are going to study;
- Photographs and videos taken of you while you're at school and taking part in school activities, including times when you're away from school on tours, trips and visits;
- CCTV images taken by the Schools' CCTV cameras;
- If you are in Years 12 or 13, details of any vehicle you drive to car and park close to the Schools' grounds.

Special Category data

We have a duty of care look after your health and wellbeing. This means we will hold some information on you which is classed as special category data. Special category data includes any information concerning racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, health, genetic or biometric data. Under data protection law we must fulfil additional requirements to use this data, which is detailed below.

Why we use this data

We use this data to help run the school, including to:

- Provide your education;
- Get in touch with you and your parents when we need to;
- Check how you're doing in exams and work out whether you or your teachers need any extra help;
- Track how well the Schools are performing;

- Allow us to enter you into external national or other examinations and competitions, including sports tournaments, competitions and events;
- Look after your wellbeing and keep you safe while you are at the Schools;
- Help you obtain work or a place at a university when you leave the Schools;
- Provide you with a range of extra-curricular activities, including visits, trips and tours in the UK and abroad;
- Publish newsletters and other forms of communication about your achievements and about events taking place at the Schools, including yearbooks, programmes for concerts and other performances, Speech Day and other award presentations, either in hard copy or published on the Schools' website and social media channels;
- Publish teams for sporting fixtures and other events, either in hard copy (for example – on display boards) or published on the Schools' website, including the Schools' Sports Website (and its app), and social media channels;
- Share information about your parents and/or alumni (students, who have left the Schools) with organisations set up to help, establish and maintain relationships with the Schools' community, such as DASPA, DASPA(J) and the Allanian Society;
- Allow the Schools to create displays of your and other pupils' work and achievements;
- Inform staff of any allergies you may have so they know how to look after you if you have a reaction;
- Keep, for our Schools' archives, written and photographic records and archives of the Schools' classes, teams, pupils and key events each year for historic and research purposes.

Our legal basis for using this data

We will only collect and use your information when the law allows us to. Most often, we will use your information where:

- We are performing our contract with you and your parents to provide your education and to ensure your safety while you are in our care;
- We need to comply with the law;
- We need to use it to carry out a task in the public interest (in order to provide you with an education).

Sometimes, we may also use your personal information where:

- You or your parents have given us permission to use it in a certain way;
- We need to protect your interests (or someone else's interest).

To process special category data we need an additional legal basis. We will process special category data most commonly where:

- We have your or your parents' consent;
- The processing is necessary under social security or social protection law;
- We are processing it in the case of an emergency or because someone's life is at risk;

- We are providing health care or treatment to you.

Where we have got permission to use your data, you or your parents may withdraw this at any time. We will make this clear when we ask for permission, and explain how to go about withdrawing consent.

Some of the reasons listed above for collecting and using your information overlap, and there may be several grounds which mean we can use your data.

Where we need your data to provide your education and other services, such as trips and extra-curricular activities, and for our legal obligations, such as safeguarding your welfare, if you don't give us the information we need we may not be able to enroll you or maintain your status as a pupil, or provide the other services.

Collecting this information

While in most cases you, or your parents, must provide the personal information we need to collect, there are some occasions when you can choose whether or not to provide the data.

We will always tell you if it's optional. If you must provide the data, we will explain what might happen if you don't.

How we store this data

We will keep personal information about you while you are a pupil at the Schools. We may also keep it after you have left the Schools. In most cases, this means storing some of your personal data until your 25th birthday, regardless of the age at which you leave the Schools. We are required to do this by law.

Our Retention of Records Policy sets out how long we keep information about our pupils. This is available on our website or a copy can be requested using the contact details set out below.

We keep personal information in paper and electronic form. This is always kept securely and access to it is limited to relevant members of the Schools' staff only.

Data sharing

We do not share personal information about you with anyone outside the Schools without permission from you or your parents, unless the law and our policies allow us to do so.

Where it is legally required, or necessary for another reason allowed under data protection law, we may share personal information about you with:

- Local authorities, (the name of the local authority will depend on where you live) – to meet our legal duties to share certain information with it, such as concerns about pupils' safety and exclusions
- The Department for Education (a government department);
- Your family and representatives;
- Educators and examining bodies;

- Our regulator (the organisation or “watchdog” that supervises us), the Independent Schools Inspectorate;
- The Independent Schools Council for the purpose of allowing them to carry out their annual census;
- Suppliers and service providers – so that they can provide the services we have contracted them for. For example, some of the Schools’ IT services, including the IT systems and cloud storage are carried out by different companies and we may ask tour operators and travel agents to organise tours, visits and trips for you to attend. Some organisers of competitions, tournaments or events (for example, sports) need to have your details, so that we can enter you or your team into those events. The agreements and understanding we have with these organisations always make sure that your personal data will be kept safe;
- Extra-curricular activity teachers and leaders, so that they can provide you with the sessions you or your parents have requested (for example, instrumental and voice lessons, LAMDA lessons, sports coaching);
- Central and local government;
- Our auditors;
- Survey and research organisations, including universities;
- Health and social welfare organisations;
- Professional advisers and consultants;
- Charities and voluntary organisations;
- Police forces, courts, tribunals;
- Professional bodies.

National Pupil Database

We are required to provide information about you to the Department for Education (a government department) as part of data collections such as the school census and the Early Years census.

Some of this information is then stored in the National Pupil Database, which is managed by the Department for Education and provides evidence on how schools are performing. This, in turn, supports research.

The database is held electronically so it can easily be turned into statistics. The information it holds is collected securely from schools, local authorities, exam boards and others.

The Department for Education may share information from the database with other organisations which promote children’s education or wellbeing in England. These organisations must agree to strict terms and conditions about how they will use your data.

You can find more information about this on the Department for Education’s webpage on how it collects and shares research data.

You can also contact the Department for Education if you have any questions about the database.

Youth support services

Once you reach the age of 13, we are legally required to pass on certain information about you to relevant local authorities and other local youth support providers in your area, as they have legal responsibilities regarding the education or training of 13-19 year-olds.

This information enables them to provide youth support services, post-16 education and training services, and careers advisers.

Your parents, or you once you're 16, can contact our data protection co-ordinator to ask us to only pass your name, address and date of birth to the above providers.

Transferring data internationally

Where we share data with an organisation that is based outside the European Economic Area, we will protect your data by telling you what we intend to do, by following data protection law and by ensuring appropriate safeguards are in place. We do not share data in this way very often – usually only if you are going on a trip or tour outside of the European Economic Area.

Your rights

How to access personal information we hold about you

You can find out if we hold any personal information about you, and how we use it, by making a 'subject access request', as long as we judge that you can properly understand your rights and what they mean.

If we do hold information about you, we will:

- Give you a description of it;
- Tell you why we are holding and using it, and how long we will keep it for;
- Explain where we got it from, if not from you or your parents;
- Tell you who it has been, or will be, shared with;
- Let you know if we are using your data to make any automated decisions (decisions being taken by a computer or machine, rather than by a person). Currently we do not carry out any automated decision making or profiling. If this changes we will let you know;
- Give you a copy of the information.

You may also ask us to send your personal information to another organisation electronically in certain circumstances.

If you want to make a request please contact our data protection co-ordinator.

Your other rights over your data

You have other rights over how your personal data is used and kept safe, including the right to:

- Say that you don't want it to be used if this would cause, or is causing, harm or distress;
- Stop it being used to send you marketing materials;
- Say that you don't want it used to make automated decisions (decisions made by a computer or machine, rather than by a person);
- Have it corrected, deleted or destroyed if it is wrong, or restrict our use of it;
- Request that electronic personal data about you be transferred to another organisation in some cases;
- Where we are processing personal data on your consent, for example if we asked to post a photograph of you on our website and you said yes, you can change your mind by contacting the data protection co-ordinator;
- Claim compensation if the data protection rules are broken and this harms you in some way.

Complaints

We take any complaints about how we collect and use your personal data very seriously, so please let us know if you think we've done something wrong.

You can make a complaint at any time by contacting our data protection co-ordinator.

You can also complain to the Information Commissioner's Office in one of the following ways:

- Report a concern online at <https://ico.org.uk/concerns/>
- Call 0303 123 1113
- Or write to: Information Commissioner's Office, Wycliffe House, Water Lane, Wilmslow, Cheshire, SK9 5AF.
