

ESSENTIAL QUALITIES OF A HAVERFORD SCHOOL GRADUATE

With the background of a superior liberal arts education, a Haverford School graduate should:

- Think critically and communicate effectively
- Possess intellectual curiosity and a passion for lifelong learning
- Demonstrate strong character, a sound moral compass, and the courage to uphold the highest standards of ethical and legal behavior
- Be a compassionate person who takes joy in the accomplishments of others and supports those struggling to surmount life's difficult challenges
- Strive to maintain a healthy mind and body —exercising self-discipline and moderation, and avoiding illegal or abusive drug and alcohol use
- Be resilient, committed to hard work and perseverance, and responsive to constructive criticism
- Be a positive leader and understand the importance of serving others
- Collaborate and compete with grace