Welcome

Dear Friends of Episcopal Collegiate School,

It is with great pleasure and pride that we welcome you to the 2020 Stay Wild Auction! Your presence at this bi-annual event supports our school in so many ways.

On behalf of our grateful students and staff, thank you for your outstanding support of our wonderful school and this important event. Your generosity tonight directly affects each student and teacher. All proceeds generated at this event will help fund the Parents' Auxiliary events and programs. These programs provide grants to faculty for professional development opportunities that directly benefit all of our students. In support of this mission, countless hours have been invested by volunteer parents over the past year to insure you have a diverse collection of auction items and experiences to bid on tonight. We are so grateful for all who have volunteered, attended, sponsored, and supported this event. Tonight, as we gather once again to enjoy the fellowship of each other's company, please remember that your contributions will make a significant difference in the lives of all of our students from Lower School to Upper School.

On behalf of everyone that made this event possible, we hope you have a great time, we encourage you to bid often, and we challenge you to always Stay Wild!

4 Arden Boyce Painting

Arden Boyce, one of the region's premier artists, was commissioned to paint this spectacular 20" x 24" original oil landscape painting of the Episcopal Collegiate campus. As Arden has grandchildren at Episcopal Collegiate, it was important to her to capture the true spirit of this school that we all know and love. It was also important to her that the painting include the hustle and bustle of students between classes. The beautiful framing was selected by the artist to perfectly compliment the painting. Additionally, the image depicted in the painting will be used in future fundraisers and school merchandise, meaning that your auction contribution will continue past this evening.

"Trout Heaven" Getaway

This weekend getaway to a fabulous private lodge on the Little Red River is just what you need! The Little Red River, just one hour north of Little Rock, is one of the blue-ribbon trout streams in America and takes her place next to the White River as one of the finest in the South. Fly fish or use light spinning tackle to catch rainbow or brown trout. The one-time world-record brown trout (at over 40 pounds) was taken on the Little Red. Canoeists, hikers, and bird-watchers (bald eagles, wild turkeys, etc.) will also appreciate the natural beauty of the river, along with those just looking to relax for a weekend. The incredible private lodge, just two miles downstream from the Greer's Ferry Dam and fronting one of the best stretches of the river's 30 miles of trout fishing, features four bedrooms (one of which is small), three baths, two fireplaces, a large front porch overlooking the river, private boathouse and fishing dock, outdoor fire pit, and screened porch. This lodge is nestled against some of the most rugged terrain in Arkansas but provides easy access to the river.
