Before we dive in to distance learning on Monday, please find a couple of updates for today:

WCCO interview

Dr. Kazmierczak was interviewed by WCCO's Katie Steiner this morning about the district's plans for distance learning. If you're interested in seeing the conversation, check it out here!

Distance Learning

As we move into distance learning next week, principals and teachers have been reaching out to families regarding how this new learning model will work. We've been preparing for distance learning since our initial Spring Break extension was announced on March 13 and have seen all of our staff members and families step up in incredible ways during this time!

For those who are interested in learning about the district's overall distance learning plan, see the Distance Learning Info page of the district website.
