

Nonfiction Reading

Want to learn about some fascinating animals from around the world? Click on the link below to listen to and read articles about several different animals:

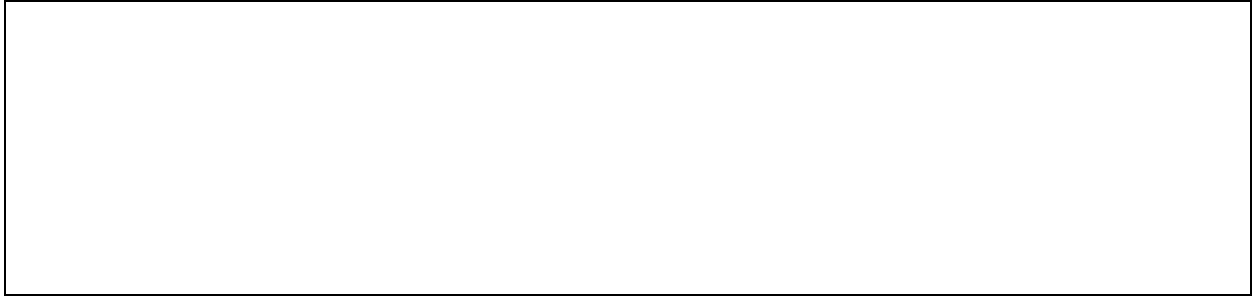

Interesting Animals:

<https://www.readworks.org/article/Interesting-Animals/2375ecde-244e-44e5-baa3-f8ba66df2120>

Remember these important strategies: first, preview your reading and then, as you're reading, pause and think, "What is the main thing the text is teaching me?" You'll understand and learn even more!

Before I read:	As I read:
Read text features and think, "What will this mostly be about?" 	Pause after a chunk to grasp the main ideas/ supporting details   Adaptations <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● long arms ● opposable toes + thumbs ● big teeth

You can use boxes and bullets to think about the main idea and supporting details in your reading:

-

-

-

