

Loons

A loon is a kind of bird that has nice sounding coo. Loons can be found all over the place. Five kinds of loon can be found in North America.

Loons are good divers. They find food in lakes and pools. They zoom down from the sky and dive into lakes to scoop up fish. They can even zoom around under water and pursue fish.

Loons roost in nests close to water. The truth is, loons are more suited in water. So, they go on land just to lay eggs.

Loons lay eggs in May or June. When the eggs hatch, loons must feed their brood. The new chicks are fed small bits of food. Soon, the chicks can dive for food.
