About the speaker:

Nancy Hammerman '77 is a VP of Sutton Capital Partners, a technology investment banking firm. Nancy heads up research and marketing and is also co-founder of the Recurring Revenue Conference-- an annual technology conference bringing together multiple industry leaders focused on the subscription economy.

Nancy's career spans over 25 years in publishing/media/technology in London, New York and LA. She is also active as an angel investor and limited partner in several early stage vc funds.

Since 2008, Nancy has mentored and coached entrepreneurs for the Social Innovation Fast Pitch Competition; for Manhattan Beach TEDx; CNN Heroes; Hewlett Packard Enterprise Living Progress Challenge; the Women Founders Network and the United Way Homeless Challenge.

Nancy has been active in the non-profit world serving on several boards and as a partner in Social Venture Partners.

She is passionate about technology, innovation and social impact.

Every woman can—and should—make a meaningful contribution to her world. There is a growing recognition that women's empowerment and leadership are crucial to their own advancement, and to worldwide societal change. Wellesley and its alumnae have supported and championed women's intellectual and social development and autonomy for over 100 years.
