In light of the COVID-19 pandemic, a team of Stanford and Harvard students and educators launched the Crown Education Challenge, a global contest for K-12 students. Crown Education Challenge strives to encourage students to take a stake in global changes and sustain learning no matter the circumstances.

Entrants may submit a piece in art, STEM, and writing tracks in response to the theme "Hope during a pandemic" to highlight optimism during an uncertain time. An esteemed panel of judges will be evaluating submissions and selecting winners. Top submissions will be published in the Harvard Technology Review, and top winners from each age group and track will receive a monetary prize and gain elite access to a network of renowned professors, artists, and other individuals at the forefront of their fields. For more information, visit <https://www.crowneducationchallenge.org/> or contact info@crowneducationchallenge.org.

VERMONT YOUNG WRITERS' CONFERENCE - This year, instead of three in-person conferences, this summer they will offer one VIRTUAL writing conference from Thursday, June 25, to Sunday, June 28. Going cyber will allow them to expand their workshop offerings, while maintaining their traditional schedule of events. APPLICATION DEADLINE is May 8. For more information and how to apply, students may visit their website. <https://vermontyoungwritersconference.com/>

AAA Northeast invites high school students to participate in the 2020 video contest and create a 30 second Public Service Announcement (PSA) style video to educate motorists on the risks of impaired driving. All video submissions are due by midnight on May 15, 2020. The grand prize winner will be announced May 4th and will win $5,000. For contest rules and guidelines visit www.AAA.com/VideoContest
