

International School of Kenya

Empowering students to create solutions for tomorrow's challenges

Social Studies Philosophy

In a world that is undergoing change at an increasingly rapid rate, the students of the International School of Kenya will assume citizenship in a complex technological environment with accelerated differences in economic, political, cultural, and social developments. As active, responsible world citizens of the future, students need the skills and attitudes necessary for a global community particularly in addressing change, diversity, and controversy.

Revised October 2007

PASSION | CREATIVITY | AMBITION

