

I am excited to announce an exciting addition to my library website –

an AT-HOME LEARNING RESOURCES page.

This page contains resources that can be used at home at no cost to you. Many of these resources are provided for free by companies that usually charge for these products. Because our entire nation is participating in at-home learning, these companies have generously offered them for free until the end of our school year.

Some of the things you can find on the AT-HOME RESOURCES page (updated as needed):

- Ebooks
- Audible Books
- Read Alouds
- Virtual Field Trips
- Databases
- STEAM Activity Links
- Additional Fun Activity Links

Passwords to the temporarily free sites are listed on the resource page below the link. Due to licensing rules, I am unable to publicly post the passwords to the two databases that RSD currently pays for, so I am including them in this private email.

- KCLS Library
 - Username: 403XXXXXX where the XXXXXX equals the student id number (lunch/library number).
 - Password: The last four digits of the student id number
 - Example: student with the id number of 123456
 - User Name: 403123456
 - PIN/Password: 3456
 - Students must go to page: <https://kcls.org/students/>
 - Do NOT log-in at the black box at top right.
 - Click “elementary students”, select where you want to go, then log into “my account” on that page.
