

High School English

Teachers emphasize reading, writing, speaking, listening, viewing, and critical thinking in every course. Emphasis also is placed on presentation and communication skills, grammar and vocabulary, research, reading, and critical thinking, and all high school students participate in an annual speech competition. Students are required to reflect regularly on their progress, especially in relation to their writing, speaking, literary appreciation, and critical thinking skills.

All HS English courses assess the same standards although the learning outcomes vary from course to course.
