1. Statutory Requirements

This policy complies with the statutory requirements laid out in the SEN Code of Practice 0-25 years (updated May 2015) and has been written with reference to the following guidance and documents:

- The Equality Act (2010)
- Teachers' Standards (2011)
- Children and Families Act (2014) (specifically Education, Health and Care Plans - EHC plans).
- The Special Educational Needs and Disability Act (2001),
- Safeguarding & Child Protection Policy
- Accessibility Plan.

2. Definition of Special Educational Needs

According to Part 3, Paragraph 20, Subsections (1) and (2) of the Children and Families Act 2014: "A child or young person has special educational needs if he or she has a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for him or her."

A child of compulsory school age or a young person has a learning difficulty or disability if he or she:

- has a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others of the same age
- has a disability which prevents or hinders him or her from making use of facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools.

Difficulties related solely to limitations in English as an additional language are not regarded as SEN.

3. Responsibility for the coordination of SEND Provision

The person with overall responsibility for overseeing the provision for children with SEND is the Principal.

The Principal's responsibilities are:

- the day to day management of the Schools including the SEND provision;
- keeping the Governing Body informed about SEND within the Schools.

Specific oversight for SEND provision within the Senior School is delegated to the Director of Studies as line manager for the SENDCo. The day to day SEND provision is coordinated by the SENDCo and learning support teacher.

Specific responsibility for SEND provision within the Junior School is delegated to the Head of the Junior School as line manager for the SENDCo.

Other professionals within the school involved in the provision of SEND include the school nurse, psychotherapist, counsellors, pastoral heads and teaching staff supplemented by teaching assistants in the Junior School.

The Schools liaise with external agencies including Health and Social Services and Local Authorities in addition to parents/carers.

Role of the SENDCo:

- Contribution where necessary to the admissions process
- Day-to-day operation of the school's SEND policy
- Liaison and collaborative work with parents and external support services
- Liaison and advice to teachers and staff
- In-service training of staff for SEND issues
- Determining the need for access arrangements
- To produce student profiles in the Junior School.

The role of teaching staff is expounded in section 8.

4. Aims and Objectives

The Schools aim to provide every child with access to a broad and balanced education.

Our aims are:

- That all pupils with SEND will have their needs identified in order to support academic progression, in addition to good physical and mental health.
- That pupils with SEND are able to access a curriculum which is differentiated.
- That support or additional resources are employed where appropriate in order to reduce barriers to learning.
- To develop a close working partnership with parents/carers.

Our objectives are:

- To identify the needs of pupils with SEND as early as possible. This is achieved most effectively by gathering information from parents, previous schools and Health and Care Services prior to the child's entry into school. Additional information is collected from screening tests completed by all new pupils;
- To make staff aware of those pupils with particular needs so those needs may be incorporated into lesson planning;
- To make appropriate provision in the learning support team that is monitored and regularly reviewed to ensure that pupils' needs are addressed;
- To work with parents to gain a better understanding of their child and involve them in their child's education, including supporting them in terms of understanding SEND procedures and school practices;
- To provide written reports as part of the main school reporting schedule;
- To discuss the progress of each pupil during parents' meetings.

If a pupil is in receipt of an EHC Plan (specifically on the grounds of education) the SENDCo will monitor progress and organise the review.

5. Working in partnership with parents/carers

The Schools have always believed that a close working relationship with parents is fundamental. The importance of parental involvement is highlighted in the principles underpinning the Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice 2014 (updated May 2015), which must have regard to:

- The views, wishes and feelings of the child or young person, and the child's parents.
- The importance of the child or young person, and the child's parents, participating as fully as possible in decisions and being provided with the information and support necessary to enable participation in those decisions.

Any concerns expressed by parents/carers will be recorded and acted upon as soon as possible and opportunities to discuss their child with the SENDCo will be provided. Pupils in receipt of learning support lessons will receive a written report as part of their full report. Parents/carers will also have the opportunity to discuss progress at parents' evenings.

6. Admissions arrangements

The admissions test is designed to assess the child's potential to cope with the Schools' academic standards. At Dame Allan's pupils are treated as individuals and those with SEND are admitted if they are able to meet the Schools' academic standards and reasonable adjustments can be made.

If an applicant with SEND requires a special arrangement for the entrance examination, parents are required to submit an Educational Psychologist's report or Specialist Teacher report along with the application. For entry to the Senior School, these reports need to be received by the SENDCo at least ten days before the entrance examination. A decision is made by the SENDCo about whether the pupil is eligible for access arrangements. Decisions are made in accordance with the current Joint Council for Qualification document (JCQ): Access Arrangements and Reasonable Adjustments.

7. Links with other schools

Before a pupil joins the Schools, as much information as possible is obtained from previous schools with the prior consent of the parent. In the event of a pupil with Special Educational Needs and/or Disabilities transferring from Dame Allan's Schools to a new school, the SENDCo, with parental consent, will liaise with the new school and forward any relevant information and provision that the student has received at Dame Allan's.

8. SEND provision

All pupils are included in mainstream classes.

A Learning support register and access arrangements list are emailed to staff on a frequent basis.

Graduated provisions made by the school are:

- Full time education in class incorporating differentiation by teachers where possible;
- Additional support provided by the learning support teacher working with small groups;
- In the Junior School, support provided by the learning support team working with small groups;
- Information and advice from external specialists.

In accordance with the SEND Code of Practice (2015), every teacher is a teacher of SEND and should therefore:

- Consult the learning support register regularly (and in the Junior School follow the strategies outlined in the student profiles) in order to be aware of SEND students and to meet their needs;
- Adapt their delivery of the curriculum and apply appropriate teaching and assessment styles to suit the needs of pupils within their class;
- Carry out regular assessments to monitor the progress of all pupils;
- Set clear, differentiated, progress targets for all pupils that focus on their potential to achieve at or above expectation;
- Should attend any inset made available to them relating to SEND and implement appropriate strategies in the classroom.

Where concerns are identified, teachers should work with the SENDCo to assess whether the child has special educational needs. It may be necessary for some assessments to be carried out externally.

Pupils with identified special educational needs, rather than those simply requiring a differentiated curriculum, will be offered additional small group support by a learning support teacher.

9a. Identification and assessment (Senior School)

The Schools recognise the importance of early identification of children with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities. All pupils who are new to the Senior Schools are given the following literacy tests:

- DASH (Detailed Assessment of Speed of Handwriting)
- Nelson Single Word Spelling Test

In addition, all new pupils are given the opportunity to sit the GL Assessment online Dyslexia Screener.

The results of these assessments are made available to parents/carers who are then given the opportunity to discuss the findings with the SENDCo.

All findings are circulated to staff and recorded on the learning support register. Where teachers have concerns about a pupil's progress, they are required to contact the SENDCo who will then investigate further.

If a pupil under the age of 16 requests screening for a Specific Learning Difficulty (dyslexia), parental consent will usually be sought before this is carried out. In cases where the pupil does not wish to inform their parent/carer, the SENDCo may assess the pupil without parental consent provided they have the capacity and understanding to make this decision.

9b. Identification and assessment (Junior School)

If a pupil is experiencing any difficulties a cause for concern form is raised and sent with appropriate evidence to the SENDCo. This will be discussed with the class teacher and with the Head and Deputy Head of the Junior School.

Contact is made with parents who are invited to discuss concerns with the SENDCo. Appropriate support within the classroom is discussed with all parties concerned.

After receiving consent from the parents, the child will be fully assessed by the SENDCo. Assessments will include:

- Welcher Individual achievement test (WIAT-II-T) single word reading, spelling, comprehension and reading speed test;
- Digit memory test of working memory;
- Symbol Digit Modalities Test (processing speed);
- INCAS scores will be used to determine the child's IQ.

Results of these tests will be shared with the parents and teaching staff and any action required will be discussed.

If a pupil's standardised score falls below 84 in their test of reading speed, 25% extra time will be given in their year 6 end of year exams.

If dyslexic tendencies are identified, the child will be added to the SEND register and appropriate support will be put in place. A student profile, outlining the needs of the student, will then be written, together with the pupil and the parents. This will then be circulated to the appropriate staff for reference.

The school is not able to formally diagnose medically based needs such as dyspraxia, ADHD, ASD or specific learning and psychological needs. When the school believes that a pupil might benefit from such an assessment, concerns will be discussed with parents and they will be advised as to how to obtain an assessment with an appropriate specialist.

10. Access arrangements for tests and examinations (including entrance examinations)

Access arrangements (such as additional time, word processors, computer readers, rest breaks and scribes) in school tests and examinations are provided according to need and in line with the procedures outlined by the Joint Council for Qualifications (JCQ).

The purpose of an access arrangement is to ensure that, where possible, barriers to assessment are removed for a disabled candidate thereby preventing him/her being placed at a substantial disadvantage as a consequence of persistent and significant difficulties.

Although access arrangements are intended to allow access to assessments, they cannot be granted where they will compromise the assessment objectives of the specification in question.

The SENDCo is the Schools' designated assessor and will thus assess candidates, process applications online and hold the evidence for inspection purposes for GCSE and GCE qualifications. Teachers are required to support the SENDCo in performing this role through accurate and timely supplying of requested information.

In advance of an assessment, the SENDCo is required to 'paint a holistic picture of need' and a history of support and provision. The SENDCo must confirm the 'normal way of working' by bringing together:

- comments and observations from teaching staff and support staff;
- intervention strategies in place for the candidate;
- screening test results;
- evidence from baseline data;
- information about any differentiation in the classroom;
- evidence of the normal way of working in the classroom;
- arrangements made for end of year internal school examinations/mock examinations.

The arrangement(s) put in place for external examinations must be in line with this normal way of working and reflect the support given to the candidate in the centre, for example:

- in the classroom (where appropriate);
- working in small groups for reading and/or writing;
- literacy support lessons;
- literacy intervention strategies;
- internal school tests/examinations and mock examinations.

Applications for access arrangements require both core evidence (defined as the quantitative data from the assessor's report) and supplementary evidence (evidence of normal way of working within the centre and a sample of internal school tests/mock examinations papers showing the application of extra time or comments and observations from teaching staff clearly demonstrating the need for 25% extra time, why the candidate needs extra time and how he/she uses the extra time awarded).

Assessments undertaken before the start of Year 9 are not valid for determining the need for extra time in GCSE and/or GCE A Level examinations. In both cases, assessment data from Year 9 and above are required. When progressing to Year 12 and 13, the SENDCo, must be able to demonstrate that 25% extra time is still needed by the candidate for A Level examinations using recent evidence that 25% extra time continues to be the candidate's normal way of working.

Applications must be processed and approved before an examination or assessment, no later than the published deadline, which occurs in February during the year of the examination.

A privately commissioned assessment carried out without prior consultation with the centre cannot be used to award access arrangements and cannot be used to process an application. An independent assessor must contact the centre and ask for evidence of the candidate's normal way of working and relevant background information. This must take place before the candidate is assessed.

Candidates are not permitted under JCQ regulations to have extra time on the basis of English not being the candidate's first language. However, a bilingual translation dictionary may be provided. The candidate must have an impairment in their first language, which has a substantial and long term adverse effect. A candidate does not have a learning difficulty simply because their first language is not English.

The JCQ and the awarding bodies can only enter into discussions over access arrangements with the candidate's centre and not with parents/carers.

11a. Monitoring, reporting and reviewing pupils (Senior Schools)

The Learning Support Team will monitor pupil progress, in order to review provision periodically, using the following sources of information:

- ongoing assessment scores in spelling, reading accuracy, reading comprehension, punctuation and grammar tests carried out within learning support lessons;
- achievement grades provided from teachers in key subjects;
- school reports;
- information provided by pupils themselves;
- information provided by parents/carers.

Written reports by the Learning Support Team are issued as part of the main school reporting schedule. The progress of each pupil can be reviewed during parents' evenings.

If a pupil is in receipt of an EHC Plan (specifically on the grounds of education) the SENDCo will monitor progress and organise the review.

11b. Monitoring, reporting and reviewing pupils (Junior School)

The SENDCo will draw up a Student Profile to suit the pupil's needs and this will be discussed with all parties. The profile will be reviewed during parents' meetings twice a year to monitor the progress of each child. An end of academic year report will be completed which will form the basis for provision for the new academic year. Internal assessments will also be monitored to check the pupil's progress across the school year.

If a pupil is in receipt of an EHC Plan (specifically on the grounds of education) the SENDCo will monitor progress and organise the review.

12. Record keeping

The SENDCo will maintain records associated with pupils' Special Educational Needs and Disabilities. The pupil records include:

- information from a previous school;
- information from parents/carers;
- summary of contact with parents/carers;
- comments from staff regarding pupil strengths and difficulties;
- pupils' perceptions of strengths and difficulties;
- information from outside agencies;
- information from screening test results;
- information on progress;
- information relating to any access arrangements in place.

In accordance with the Schools' policy for the Retention of Records, records may be retained for a period from the pupil's date of birth for up to 35 years, with such records to be risk assessed on an individual basis.

13. Complaints procedure

In accordance with the Complaints Policy, if a parent/carer has a complaint then an informal resolution should be attempted between the SENDCo and the parent/carer with the support of the Director of Studies or Head of Junior School where appropriate. Should an informal resolution not be possible then the complaint should then be addressed formally to the Principal. The Principal will investigate the complaint and take appropriate action in accordance with the Complaints Policy.
