Dear Spring Red-Tailed Hawks,

On Friday, May 1, Governor Cuomo announced that students will not return to school this year. Unfortunately, the closing of school means the cancellation of the 2020 spring sports season. I know that many of you, including myself, were hanging on to hope that we would be putting on SEM uniforms at some point this spring. Sadly, that will not be possible. However, what is important now is that you are all safe and that we continue to do our part by staying home.

The cancellation of spring sports is devastating for all SEM athletes, especially our seniors.

To the seniors - thank you. Thank you for all your hard work and dedication to athletics over your time at SEM. Your efforts have not gone unnoticed. When you look back on your career as a Red-Tailed Hawk try not to focus on what could have been but what was. Remember, it is not solely the wins and losses or the championships that define your athletic career but the memories, friendships, life lessons, and countless other things that being on a SEM team have meant toward helping you grow as an individual.

As we close out the end of the school year, my goal is to find more ways to highlight and celebrate our spring senior athletes. I also want to say thank you to all of our SEM athletes and coaches for your resiliency during this challenging time. As always, #GOSEM.
