

ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE 2001340

Grade 9, Credit 1.0

Prerequisite: None

This course provides the student with a comprehensive study of the effect of human actions on the Earth and quality of life. Topics include pollution, population, resource use, and conservation. Coordinated laboratory activities will be part of this course. This class is required prior to taking Biology.