

JOURNALISM I - 1006300

Grade 9-12, Credit 1.0

The purpose of this course is to enable students to develop fundamental skills in the production of journalism across print platforms and to develop knowledge of journalism history, ethics use, and management techniques related to the production of journalistic media, specifically the yearbook. This course provides cadets the opportunity to be an important part of a digital media and graphic design production class that will publish a 184+ page yearbook which may be purchased and/or critiqued by hundreds of people and read for generations.

This is no easy task and requires hard work, dedication, responsibility, accountability, and commitment to go above the minimum requirements of the class. You will gain invaluable real-life working skills that include business management, graphic design, photography, writing and reporting, leadership, and all the while documenting and capturing memories that will last a lifetime.
