TSD Tutors Parent Guidelines Remote Learning Edition

While we know emergencies arise and we try to be as flexible as possible, we want the tutoring experience to be effective and stress-free for everyone. To those ends please adhere to the following guidelines:

Students – please review with your student!

- Materials Your student should ALWAYS have their school materials with them!
  - Always have a pencil and scrap paper available!
  - Make sure the devices are charged and will last for the session.
  - Math: Elementary: Homework and Remembering book. Middle School: CHARGED iPad and any paper assignments.
  - Reading/English: any currently assigned reading or independent reading book(s), projects or other assignments.
  - Homework Help: Homework! If the student has no current homework they should still bring math/reading materials as listed above for review and continued reinforcement.

Students should know their assignments and have their iPad or other support materials as needed.

Parents

- Communication Please make sure you establish the line of communication with your Tutor that works best for both of you (email, text, call, etc.)
- Missed Session If you miss a session with insufficient warning, you will be charged for that session.
- Begin Time If you are late to your tutoring session, your session will end at the usual time, resulting in a shortened tutoring session. The next student will need his/her session to start on time.

Thank you for your consideration and cooperation!
