

Trask Parent Newsletter for the Week of May 17, 2020
Title I Compact for Student Success

We are here to help you and your family during this unprecedented time. If you need assistance, including access to a device and/or wireless internet, fill out the form and someone from our school will be in touch within 24-48 hours.

News & Updates

- There is a webinar available tomorrow (5/18) at 2:00 on Managing Your Child's Excessive Screen Time and Gaming during COVID19. Please consider logging in to learn more or view the recording.
- Need to register for classes for next year? Click here! Student support made a one-stop page for enrollment for new and current students. If you have questions, please email one of the counselors (jessica.schubbe@nhcs.net or elizabeth.scharf@nhcs.net)
- Yearbooks are $25 and available to order online. We will be distributing yearbooks the week of June 8th. We will develop a plan to ensure we are able to safely distribute these. In the meantime, you can purchase a virtual signature book.
- Do you know a rising 6th grader? Please share these videos to help them select electives. We have a Fine Arts and Orchestra demo video.
- Trask teachers have carefully selected standards for remote learning to prepare students for the next grade level. We shared progress reports last week and will send them again after Memorial Day. Please continue to encourage and monitor your student's remote learning.
- We know remote learning can be stressful for students and families. We believe in the importance of self care and want you to take care of yourself. Take a look at this Self Care Bingo for a few ideas.
- We need your help! NCDPI has not waived the requirement of PFE Consultation for the 2020-2021 Consolidated Federal Programs Application. We need your feedback through the 2020 Title 1Parent Survey with Remote Learning Questions.
- Are you a rising 8th grader interested in Math I or Earth & Environmental Science? Please complete the Acceleration Application by May 29.

Information, Community Outreach & Resources

- Please see the links for community mental health and food resources.
- NHCS continues to provide meals at bus stops, community agencies and at other designated meal sites (English, Spanish). You can request meals online using the form (English, Spanish).
- Please see the article about how to support students well-being during the extended school closure.
- Remote learning prompts privacy and data concerns for schools and families. Read the linked article and review commonsensemedia.org to learn more about screen time, privacy and online safety, and learning with technology.
