Commitment of Athletics

A student-athlete is expected to be accountable, a good teammate, and honor the commitment they have made to their team. Practices and games should be a very high priority. Missing practice or competition may hinder a student-athlete's individual or team's skill, may increase the chance of injury, may weaken his/her role with the team, and could affect the team's competitiveness and chances for success.

Student-athletes are required to attend all practices unless excused by the coach. It is an expectation that every athlete attends every contest and should only be excused by the coach under emergency or unusual situations. Coaches expect that athletes are dressed and ready to start practice at the specified time. Athletes should listen for announcements about changes to the team schedule.

Fall Sports

The PIAA sets the start of the high school season for early to mid-August. Athletes are expected to attend these practices. Summer vacations and other appointments should be scheduled prior to the official start date.

Many high school teams will have mandatory practices or competitions during Labor Day weekend.

During the fall sports season, the district calendar typically has days off from the academic schedule. Most high school teams will have mandatory practice on these days.

Middle school teams begin after Labor Day, with the exception of football which reports in August for heat acclimatization. Typically, when school is closed, middle school teams will not practice or compete.

Winter Sports

The PIAA sets the start of the high school winter season for mid-November. High school athletes are expected to attend mandatory practices and games during Thanksgiving and winter breaks.

During the winter sports season, the district calendar typically has days off from the academic schedule. Most high school teams will have mandatory practice on these days.

Middle school girls basketball, wrestling, and cheerleading will also begin in November. Middle school boys basketball begins in January, but tryouts will occur in November. Typically, when school is closed, middle school teams will not practice or compete.

Spring Sports

The PIAA sets the start of the high school spring season for early March. High school athletes are expected to attend mandatory practices and games during spring break.

During the spring sports season, the district calendar typically has days off from the academic schedule. Most high school teams will have mandatory practice on these days.

Middle school sports also begin in March. Typically, when school is closed, middle school teams will not practice or compete.
