SUMMER CAMP DESCRIPTIONS:

Book Club Fun Summer Camp

Students' biggest complaint when it comes to reading is that the materials they are expected to read are too boring. Our goal is to bring stories to students that they not only find interesting, but that they can use to strengthen their understanding of narrative structure, literary devices, and thematic meaning. This summer camp will lead students through a series of short stories designed to get them engaged in reading—despite whatever their current interest level is. Students will discuss how to employ different skills and assessments while reading, depending on the writing style and topic. Students will be provided a variety of tools to encourage personal reflection and group discussion about stories that span diverse genres and authors.

Grammar Squad Summer Camp

Do the words “subject,” “verb,” or “dependent clause” mean anything to you? When was the last time you had to identify when to use a colon versus a semi-colon? High school students rarely review some of the basic concepts behind sentence structure because most teachers are relying on what the student learned in middle school. Make sure you are ready for the writing expectations of a high school teacher. Students will break down sentence structure, punctuation, verb phrasing, and much more over the course of this camp. Students with any skill level can benefit from this activity-based camp all centered around helping you become the best writer you can be!

Math Booster Summer Camp

Is your student still building their mathematics skill and confidence? This program aims to reinforce students' computation ability (i.e., addition, subtraction, multiplication, division) and strengthen their understanding of foundational math (e.g., decimals, fractions, percents, ratios, etc.). Students will review the building blocks for math questions involving word problems, conversions, and equations, and will use those skills to prepare for the algebra and geometry necessary in high school math classes. No one needs to be a math expert to benefit from this camp!

Math Challenger Summer Camp

Who wants to push their math skill to the next level! This summer camp is best suited for students with mathematical skills and ability that want to elevate to higher level high school courses down the road. Students will explore complex aspects of problem-solving, ratios and proportions, and even probability. Students will learn integral math strategies they can apply on almost any math problem across algebra, geometry, and trigonometry. Students will review algebraic concepts they have learned in junior high and prepare them for the foundational math they will need throughout all four years of high school.

Strategic Reading Summer Camp

Looking to take your reading skill to the next level? Our Strategic Reading Summer Camp is designed for students looking to hone their reading comprehension in both fiction and non-fiction. The optimal student for this program already has a strong foundation of reading skill and wants to elevate their pre-existing aptitude. This camp will engage students in reading activities involving group discussion and analysis, along with time for personal reflection and examination. Students will examine different writing styles and genres, and students will have the opportunity to prepare for high school level (and above) reading expectations.

Study Skills Summer Camp

Do you know a student who has the ability to succeed but isn't sure how to manage their time and attention while studying? Our Study Skills Summer Camp will help students explore how to study by introducing them to the “study cycle” and the “study senses.” Students will be provided a variety of tools in this camp to learn how to assess their current methods for studying and explore what is working for them and what is working against them. Our goal in each discussion is to make sure students understand how their brain and body work while studying. Students will learn how they can encode information in new ways, take notes that matter, and create study tools for themselves at home.

SEELEY TEST PROS provides a full-range of instructional services for standardized exams, including HSPT, ISEE, SSAT, PSAT, SAT, ACT.
