

Added Courses

English 213 - American Literature (Includes 203, 213 and 213H)

This course is intended to strengthen students' understanding of American literature and their skills as readers and writers. Emphasis will be placed on developing writing proficiency in argumentation, analysis, and personal response. Vocabulary building and grammar review continue in this course. A rising junior who has taken EN203, 213 or 213H during the 2019-2020 school year may enroll for enrichment or the potential to improve a grade. Summer grades are averaged 1/3 to 2/3 with the school year grade in a course, and indicated as summer on the transcript.