

Schedule & Advising Overview

Please read below for general information about your fall schedule and next steps in the process.

Schedule:

- All schedules have been created based on your identified interests and test scores, as well as any Advanced Placement (AP) courses and incoming college credits.
- All courses that you are registered for will meet either general education or major requirements.
- Most schedules consist of 14-16 credit hours. You need an average of 16 credits per semester to graduate in four years.
- Our classes are on a Monday, Wednesday and Friday (MWF) and Tuesday and Thursday (TR) schedule. We have attempted to balance your course load across the work week.
- If you are an athlete, we built your schedule so that you do not have classes after 3 p.m., unless the course is a major requirement (i.e. you are majoring in Biology and need a lab that is only available after 3 p.m.). You will need to communicate with your coach if this is the case.

Advising:

- Please register for an upcoming advising session for your intended major. At this meeting, you will be able to meet with one or more faculty members in your major. You will be given information about the major and have the opportunity to ask questions about the major and/or your schedule. You can find out more information about advising sessions and register at lr.edu/LRbound, follow the First-Year Advising & Student Success Tab.
- If a schedule change is necessary, you can submit a request via the Student Schedule Change Request Form available at lr.edu/LRbound, follow the First-Year Advising & Student Success Tab.
 - You must attend an advising session and speak with a faculty member before submitting any schedule change requests. Schedule changes will be made beginning July 20, 2020. We are only making essential schedule changes (i.e. wrong English placement, change of major, etc.) at this time. Any non-essential schedule changes can be made the first week of classes during the add/drop period.
