Please provide a brief explanation of why the 2017-18 and 2018-19 school year participation rates were below 95%. (250 words or less)

In the 2017-18 school year, 578 students refused (opted out) of the ELA assessment and 366 students refused (opted out) of the Mathematics assessment. These refusals (opt-outs) had an impact on William Floyd Middle School's participation rate. In addition, the average daily attendance for the 2017-2018 school year was below 95% at 92.89%. The attendance rate on the assessment dates was significantly lower. The average daily attendance was 78.30% for the ELA assessment and 85.04% for the Mathematics assessment.

In the 2018-2019 school year, 537 William Floyd Middle School students refused (opted-out) of the ELA assessment and 557 students refused (opted-out) of the Mathematics assessment.

	Again, the average daily attendance was below 95% for the 2018-2019 school year at 93.32%. The average daily attendance was 88.94% for the ELA assessment and 83.95% for the Mathematics assessment.
Provide a brief description of the Consultation and Collaboration process for development of the plan.	In anticipation of needing to develop a plan, district administration and faculty began meeting in the 2018-2019 school year as well as this current year. We met to develop a communication plan for parents to emphasize the importance of taking the state assessments and to build their knowledge of ESSA. The information was shared with parents at Parent-Teacher Conferences, PTO meetings, ENL Parent Nights and Title I meetings. The following handouts were distributed to parents: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• New York State Assessments: What Parents Need to Know</li> <li>• Parents Frequently Asked Questions about New York State's Annual Grade 3-8 ELA and Mathematics Tests</li> <li>• Things Every Parent Should Know About Student Participation in New York State Assessments under ESSA</li> </ul> Key points also communicated to parents included: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Taking the ELA and Mathematics assessments in middle school provides students with an authentic opportunity to take a state exam in preparation of the Regent exams which are required for graduation.</li> <li>• An understanding of the multiple measures that are used in determining if students qualify for AIS services.</li> </ul> District Office administration, building level administration, teachers, and support staff worked together to improve school attendance in an effort to increase student attendance on a daily basis as well as state assessment days.

Describe the chosen strategies and key activities to be implemented to improve Participation Rate.	The William Floyd School District and William Floyd Middle School implemented several strategies to improve the participation rate for the 2019-2020 school year. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• District and building level PTO meetings in addition to Parent-Teacher conferences are utilized to share information regarding ESSA and the state assessments. Parents are encouraged to ask questions during these meetings to deepen their understanding. These meetings helped to support parents in developing an awareness of the value of assessments. This awareness leads parents to make a more informed decision related to their child participating in the</li> </ul> assessments. In addition, these meetings often help break the pattern of continued refusals (opt-outs) every year as the parents become more informed about ESSA and the assessments each passing year.

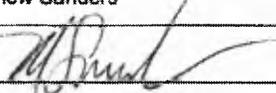

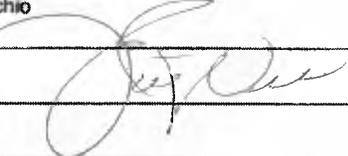

- The William Floyd School District has a new user friendly website where parents can quickly obtain information. Our Public Relations Director and our District Technology team consistently update the information on the website to provide parents with quick access to announcements. Pop-up boxes of important information are displayed on the website and social media vehicles such as Facebook and Twitter are used to convey information about state assessment dates. William Floyd Middle School administrators and teachers use the Remind app to remind parents of upcoming state assessment days. Finally, all state assessment dates are printed on our district calendar which is mailed to each home during the summer as well as provided to all new entrants who register in the district.
- District Office administrators and William Floyd Middle School administrators meet with teachers on a regular basis to provide training and information as it relates to ESSA and state assessments. As evidenced in the description of Consultation and Collaboration above, these meetings were essential as we anticipated the need to develop a plan to increase our participation rate.
- Attendance programs and interventions to raise student attendance have been implemented in an effort to increase attendance on test taking days. The district has revised attendance codes and trained the attendance aides in all buildings to ensure consistency throughout the district. In turn, we are able to collect accurate data on student attendance and identify patterns in absences. Chronic absence post cards and letters are mailed home to alert parents to the attendance concern and encourage the parent to collaborate with building staff to improve the child's attendance. These letters are also available in Spanish to ensure all families have access to their child's attendance information. The Director of Student Services gave a presentation on ENL Parent Night to share strategies to increase student attendance. A William Floyd Middle School assistant principal attended an Attendance Think Tank where administrators at all levels shared ideas to improve attendance throughout the district. Lastly, the Director of Student Services investigates possible residency issues to determine if

	students are absent due to transportation related concerns and addresses the issue accordingly. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• There has been a shift in perception regarding these state assessments due to the diligent work of administrators and teachers at William Floyd Middle School. Students are less likely to refuse (opt-out) as their parents are better informed about these assessments, thereby resulting in the shift of perception. This is due to increased communication with parents and faculty.</li> <li>• We believe that our refusal (opt-out) rates would have decreased this year due to our interventions. Unfortunately, due to COVID19 and our school closure, we will not see the results of our plan this year.</li> </ul>
