

Soccerbills share in Special Olympics

Steamers were then announced as the Honorary Chairmen of the event. Competitor Chris Zeller, 20, then stated the slogan of the Special Olympics: "Let me win, but if I can not win, let me be brave in the attempt." The hand-held torch was then lit, and four executives of McDonnell Douglas and four special athletes ran a relay around the main field carrying the flame to light the large, ceremonial torch and officially open the Special Olympics.

Bruce Hayward, Master of Ceremonies, first introduced the thirteen institutions which sponsored athletes at the games and then the three high school teams (DuBourg, Aquinas Mercy, and SLUH) and one select team (White Star) that would instruct the athletes in soccer.

Each soccer player instructed about three special athletes. For SLUH, Steve Kuntz and Craig Holke showed the competitors how to shoot the ball between two cones. Seniors Steve O'Brien and Matt Jermak and junior John Eisele enjoyed teaching kids to dribble around obstacles. Tim Green, John Barfield, Jason Steuber, and Steamer John Bain let the competitors practice throw-ins, while Dave Kostecki, Bill Tierney, coach Dunn, and Steamer Albert Adade drilled the athletes on taking shots at a goal. Volleying, passing, and heading the ball were skills that senior John Pini, sophomore Brian Leahy, and coach Dan Gaffney taught.

When the day was over, the Soccerbills came away with mementos--a cap, T-shirt, and two posters--but much more importantly, they came away with memories.

Senior Dave Kostecki accurately summed up his sentiments by saying "the event was not only a tremendous learning experience, but it was also a great time. I was a little concerned at the beginning about how to react to the kids. But I found that if I treated them like any other kids, I was able to relax and really enjoy myself."

Mr. Dunn said, "These kids are so pleasantly responsive and appreciative of the help you give them. For me, it is one of the most meaningful things I have done in soccer."

September 10, 1988 has been set aside for this event. Mr. Dunn has already agreed to help, and looks forward to returning next year.

Varsity soccer coach Ebbie Dunn with twelve of the SLUH varsity players helped instruct special athletes, both boys and girls of all ages, in basic soccer drills for the Special Olympics Committee at the Soccer Park in Fenton last Sunday. Maureen Walsh, head of the St. Louis branch of the Special Olympics, said the special athletes were "there to learn the fundamentals of soccer from local coaches and high school seniors."

About two hundred and thirty special athletes attended the event, accompanied by a crowd of 300 sponsors and volunteers. The special athletes received shirts, and the volunteers were given yellow ribbons with the Special Olympics motto: "Skill, Courage, Sharing and Joy."

HARRIERS SET RECORD PACE

The SLUH Harriers have been running on some rocky ground the past week as they faced several tough contenders from the area. This trend continued when the Harriers lined up against the Parkway West Longhorns last week. Though they put their best feet forward, they came in six points behind the traditionally tough West squad.

Everyone on the team ran exceptional times, lowering previous times by over a minute. The top five scorers for the Harriers against Parkway included Mickey Luna, John Sadlo, Brian Lawyer, Jamie Cummings, and Tim Jones.

Luna, though only a sophomore, led the team and looks extremely promising this season. Next was John Sadlo followed by Brian Lawyer, Jamie Cummings, and finally Tim Jones.

After an emotional high from the Parkway meet, the Bills felt confident about their new-found speed. The next meet was this past Tuesday when SLUH made the long trek to Eureka for the second annual Eureka invitational. SLUH teamed up with Rosati Kain for this co-ed meet, but the Bills were disappointed and left Eureka with a fourth place, out of six teams.

Although the team did not fare well, Mickey Luna once again led the pack for SLUH, pulling in a time of 17:36 and placing seventh out of forty-two. If he can continue running at this pace, Luna should be a strong contender at state.

Back from being blessed by the Pope, Angelo Directo came in second for SLUH, thirteenth overall. This Godsped Harrier was followed by John Sadlo, who overcame plaguing knee problems to turn in a strong performance. Brian Lawyer and Jamie Cummings rounded out the first five SLUH finishers. Both Mickey and Angelo received medals for their strong performance.

Many of SLUH's problems could probably be attributed to a large number of Harrier injuries. Curt Miles, Jerry Kester and Todd Glass have all been troubled in some way by the rigorous strain they put on their legs every practice.

The Harriers hope to have all their legs back under them as they move into their first invitational, the Hazelwood Invitational that will be held at Sioux Passage Park at 10 AM this Saturday.

Water Polo

DeGreeff dished the ball to Baudendistel, who promptly scored the Polobills' eleventh goal. The Aqua Jocks' next goal came on a beautiful shot from Jay Struckhoff. Jay soared out of the water and fired a skip shot past the helpless Colt goalie.

Zimmerman and DeGreeff each scored again, and Baudendistel took a steal the length of the pool to score the Water Warriors' fifteenth goal.

The Colts began the fourth quarter aggressively, but the Polobills successfully defended the goal. Then Lake fed Zerillo for yet another Polobill goal. The Aqua Jocks stopped another Central power play before the Colts went on a roll, scoring three goals in a row; but it was too little, too late. The Bills scored once more before John Lake scored the last goal of the game.

The final score was 18-7, with the Aqua Jocks riding the Colts with a confident victory. The Polobills now look forward to their next game in the League Tournament Tuesday against an as yet unnamed opponent.

JV Waterpolo (3-0) The Junior Polobills also opened their season impressively with victories over Ladue, Mehlville, and Parkway Central. They will be idle for some time, until the Varsity completes their league tournament.

Next caller.

HOW DO YOU FEEL ABOUT THE NEW SONG BY THE FAT BOYS ENTITLED "WIPEOUT"?

What do you think this is? America's Top Ten? We're Wrap Men, not Casey Kasem. But speaking of wipeout, that could set up the feature on the Cross Country team.

V Cross Country (1-1) The Harriers experienced their own "wipeout" this week as they fell to Parkway West. Mickey Luna placed first in the meet for the Harriers, while top runner Angelo Directo was in New Orleans doing lunch with the Pope. In a side note, the third team of the tri-meet, the Ladue Rams, failed to show up. Reports are they rammed into one another, were seriously injured, and unable to participate. The next meet will take place in the Hazelwood Invitational on Saturday.

JV Cross Country The team will travel to Hazelwood to participate in the Invitational with the Varsity.

We've got time for one or two more callers. Hello, out there.

HEY, SPORTS WRAP MAN, WHAT'S THE DEAL WITH SPUDS MACKENZIE? IS HE DEAD OR ISN'T HE?

Good question. I've heard contrasting reports about "the original party animal's" health. The closest to the truth I've gotten is that Spuds left on a contract dispute and his brother, Spike Mackenzie, is now the new spokesman. Jumping to a spike of another breed:

V Volleyball (0-0) The Spikebills have begun to prepare for their 1987-88 campaign. Keep looking to the Sports Wrap for further detail in the future.

So long, all you wonderful fans out there. We'll be back next week with a trip into the Wrap Zone.

but only got off two more shots on goal, and neither of these found their mark. Fouls hampered SLUH's control in the first half as the Bills turned the ball over eleven times.

Pumped up by a strong half-time talk, the Griffins returned determined to tie the game. A constantly badgering Jason Huber was able to put the ball over goalkeeper John Eisele after a weak security pass from Dave Kostecki, tying the score 1-1.

SLUH regained command of the ball. SLUH's Pat Madigan scored, but a whistle negated the goal. Steve Kuntz converted the free kick awarded to SLUH into a 2-1 lead. With the remaining time, SLUH protected the lead by pushing the ball past the midfield. Thus the game ended 2-1, giving SLUH its first soccer victory.

Tuesday Night the Soccerbills destroyed Cahokia 9 to 0. The Jr. Bills were led by Pat Madigan with 2 goals and a combined shutout by John Eisele and Matt Wohlstadter. The Bills jumped out to a 2 to 0 lead 10 minutes into the game. Eisele was then taken out of the game to let backup Wohlstadter finish the contest. At the end of the half, the score was three to zero.

A flurry of goals occurred in the second half as the Bills built their nine to zero lead. Dave Kostecki commented that the game was "a good chance for the younger players to play and gain experience."
