Concerns with social media

Parents be aware of:

- Unsafe disclosure of personal information and inappropriate pictures -- providing potentially dangerous or damaging personal information. Many teens appear to have no understanding that what they post in those communities is public, potentially permanent, and accessible by anyone in the world.
- Cyberbullying -- being cruel to others by sending or posting harmful material online or through a cell phone, or by engaging in other cruel actions.
- Cheating -- Sharing answers of a test, quiz or homework on social media.

Children aren't always equipped to understand the implications of what they are doing or saying online. It's important for parents to have a conversation with them about what is appropriate and monitor their online activities. They need to know they should never use social media to embarrass or hurt someone else.

Communication

Here at UP we strive to establish partnerships with parents to support student learning. Strong communication is fundamental to this partnership and to building a sense of community between home and school.
