Andrew Cho Enters Race for Fullerton City Council District 1
Endorsed by Fullerton Mayor Jennifer Fitzgerald, CA Senator Ling Ling Chang, Young Kim and Charles Kim

Fullerton, CA (July 13, 2020) – Businessman Andrew Cho announces his entry into the race for Fullerton City Council, District 1. A resident of Fullerton for decades, Cho immediately won the endorsements of Fullerton Mayor Jennifer Fitzgerald, former Assemblywoman Young Kim, and Mr. Charles Kim. Fullerton District 1 includes the communities of Amerige Heights, Burning Tree, Sunny Hills, and Sunny Ridge.

In launching his candidacy, Cho stated:

“As a Fullerton resident since 1979, I am excited to announce that I am running for the District 1 seat on the Fullerton City Council in November. My father, Stephen Yongjik Cho, helped start Korean American Coalition many years ago. He taught me the importance of serving the community. I’m excited, willing and ready to serve my neighbors in District 1. I am starting a grassroots campaign by reaching out to the Korean community, my friends, my Fullerton neighbors, and our community leaders.

As a consumer and bankruptcy attorney for 24 years I know how difficult the economy has been for my neighbors and business owners, especially in the Korean community. I’ve seen many people’s economic struggles, and I’ve helped many become debt free.

As an attorney, my experience advocating for my client’s rights and protecting their assets will provide important guidance in protecting valuable taxpayer dollars to ensure they are spent where most needed. My top priorities will be fiscal responsibility, protecting public safety, and helping business development in Fullerton.

I am honored to have earned the early support of Mayor of the City of Fullerton, Jennifer Fitzgerald, Charles and Young Kim. With their support, I am seeking the endorsement of numerous business and community groups in Fullerton, and I will personally connect with my neighbors across District 1. And I will be a voice to build bridges between Korean and surrounding communities...older and younger generations.”

Upon endorsing Cho, Mayor Fitzgerald said:

“Andrew Cho is an incredible community leader with deep roots in Fullerton, proven business experience, and dedication to Fullerton. I am proud to endorse Andrew Cho for Fullerton City Council, District 1. As a resident of District 1, I'm voting for Andrew in November and look forward to having him represent my family and my neighbors.”

Andrew Cho is a successful businessman and attorney who owns his own law office, where he guides people through difficult challenges and helps them begin their economic recovery. Initially starting in Koreatown in Los Angeles, he now runs his law office in North Orange County. He has a long record of being active in the community, including being a long-time volunteer at the Korean Youth Center, coaching children's basketball and volleyball, and teaching Sunday school.

In 1979, his parents moved the family to Fullerton, and enrolled Andrew at Laguna Road Elementary School. He went on to Parks Junior High School, during which time he played in Golden Hill Little League and Pop Warner football with the Fullerton Patriots. Now a husband and father, Andrew and his wife are raising their family in his hometown of Fullerton. Their eldest daughter recently graduated from Sunny Hills high school. And their two younger boys attend Fullerton schools, just as their father did.
