A Great Honor

As my term as president of the Board of Trustees winds down, I’d like to draw your attention to some of our most recent accomplishments and our newest faces.

We’ve made major improvements at the Irmas Campus: You’ll notice new lighting and landscaping, improved facilities, and a new library and tech room for Brawerman Elementary School West—an overall upgrade to our beautiful Westside presence.

We’ve invested in broad new security measures at Camp Hess Kramer and Gindling Hilltop Camp, and we’ve done so without diminishing the excitement of the camp experience for our kids.

Our first woman cantor, Lisa Peicott joins us in June, taking the place of Cantor Seth Ettinger, who moved with his family to a congregation in Scottsdale, Arizona. You may have heard Cantor Peicott’s beautiful voice at Sinai Temple, where she started her cantorial career.

It’s a thrill to report that Brawerman Elementary School East in June holds its first Grade 6 graduation for its charter class, a wonderful milestone under the proud direction of principal Gillian Feldman.

With the new school year, Lisa Alpern, who heads up our b’nei mitzvah program, will also serve as principal of Religious School at Glazer, taking over for Rabbi Rochelle Tulik, who has moved on to a congregation in Rochester, New York. (I can’t resist making a pitch for our Religious School—the best anywhere—overseen by Cathy Gordon. If you, like me, want to plant the seeds of Judaism in members of the next generation, I strongly encourage you to enroll your child or grandchild—whether a nursery schooler, elementary schoolchild, or teen—at either campus.)

Our Audrey Irmas Pavilion, an amazing project, will break ground hopefully in the early fall with your support.

Lastly, longtime member of the Board of Trustees, Alberto Valner, will take over as your president during the coming High Holy Days. He brings invaluable business expertise and charm to the job.

Friends, it has been my great honor to serve as president of our outstanding congregation. I look forward to working and worshipping with you going forward.

Rick Powell, President
The Truth about Curses
Parashat Balak Numbers 22:2–25:9

The Torah, whose literal meaning is “The Teaching,” is filled with miracles, many of which, by their very nature, may exhaust our ability to accept as reasonable or true. On the surface, the Torah portion called Balak provides a stunning and seemingly laughable example of this:

Balak sends his prophet, or seer, Balaam on a mission to secure the protection of his Moabite people. Balaam, however, saddles his donkey, secretly plotting to use the opportunity to curse the Israelite nation. Three times along the journey, the donkey sees an angel of God standing in the path, and each time the donkey refuses to continue. And each time in response, Balaam whips the animal with a stick. After the third and final painful episode of this behavior, the donkey gives voice to his insult and pain. “How can you treat your loyal servant this way?” he cries. Yes, a talking donkey in the Torah. (Perhaps this exchange gave birth to the ‘60s television show, Mister Ed)

So what is the Torah’s teaching? Surely not that donkeys can speak. Rather, it is to remind those who seek to do evil, or when we are tempted to commit a hurtful act or speak words of harm, to stop and consider whether we’re capable of achieving the moral level of an ass.

Cantor Gurney

Stories to Remember from Former Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Barak
On May 17, Israel’s most decorated soldier and former Prime Minister Ehud Barak joined us for an eye opening talk in our Sanctuary. Guided by questions from longtime Jewish Journal book editor Jonathan Kirsch, Prime Minister Barak gave 400 people in attendance his candid memories of top-secret missions as a commander of Sayeret Matkal, Israel’s most elite military unit. Revealing past experiences as current Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu’s commander, seemingly impossible missions in Lebanon and Jordan, his insider perspective of the Oslo Accords, memories of Yasser Arafat, and an unfiltered opinion on recent clashes at the Gaza border, Barak didn’t hold back any punches.

After spending time signing copies of his new book, My Country, My Life in our Lerner Conference Room, Barak joined a private reception in Stalford Hall before taking his place in our iconic Sanctuary for his memorable conversation.
Forty students. Forty graduates. Forty mensches ready to step into the next phase of their academic careers. This year’s graduating class represents the largest in Brawerman Elementary School’s 19-year history. Next year, more than a dozen lucky secondary schools, both public and private, will have the privilege of working with this diversely talented Grade 6 class.

This academic school year has recorded many inaugural events for the Brawerman community. For the first time, students from both campuses spent Purim cheering and hollering as they listened to the chanting of the megillah. For the first time, students from both campuses prayed at the Western Wall on Shabbat. And remarkably, for the first time, students from both campuses will share the title of Brawerman Elementary School’s Graduating Class of 2018.

Each campus will hold its own graduation ceremony designed to reflect the distinctive qualities of the respective graduating classes, as well as the singular characteristics and traditions of each campus. “Our guiding principle in designing this inaugural East graduation is that it’s all about honoring our graduates,” said Brawerman East Principal Gillian Feldman.

“We want to make sure we’re celebrating each graduate’s unique identity.”

“Our graduation ceremony has evolved over the years to highlight the individual accomplishments and insights of our graduates,” said Brawerman West Principal Nadine Zysman, “as well as the ethos of the class as a whole. Each class’s personality shapes many of the decisions in the design of the ceremony.”

For Nadine Breuer, the founding Head of School, a Wilshire Boulevard Temple school was once just a dream. Then Brawerman West was developed—and with great success. “I remember feeling such professional and personal satisfaction at the Brawerman West charter class graduation in 2006, an emotional ‘first.’ To have the joy of a second ‘first’ is rare indeed!” she exclaimed. “The Yiddish word kvell [to be extraordinarily proud] best describes my feeling about two fully developed schools. Watching two graduations, I am kvelling intensely, with a big smile and a full heart.”
Mazal tov to our graduating Kadima classes! The faculty and staff at the Early Childhood Centers are so proud of you all and excited to send you forth on your continuing journeys. Come back and visit us often—you are always part of the Wilshire Boulevard Temple family.
Happy Summer!

What makes our Religious School so special? It’s our teachers, staff, students, and their families! Thank you all for a wonderful year and wishing everyone a safe and wonderful summer. Remember, our new website has all the information you need, so check it out! wbtlao.org/religiousschool

Travel Opportunity

Purposeful Travel: Kenya with Rabbi Leder

Join us for the Tikkun Olam trip of a lifetime to Kenya with Rabbi Steve and Betsy Leder!

Facilitated by Me to We, a social enterprise that has enabled over 42,000 travelers to volunteer on development projects and see their impact first-hand, there is a role for everyone from the ages of 5 to 95! There will also be time to experience daily life and culture in the Maasai Mara, immersing yourself in the beauty of Kenya.

Optional extensions include:
1. Breathtaking Safari Adventure in the Maasai Mara
2. Beautiful Toriana Beach House on the Indian Ocean

“Volunteering in Africa gave me a new understanding of my own blessed life and how much I could do to change the lives of others for the better. Africa is also the lushest, most colorful, vibrant, challenged, music and dance filled place on earth. A place of beautiful, welcome people who need our help to build better lives for themselves and their children. This is far more than a vacation, it is an opportunity to change the destiny of an entire village with your hands and your heart and an opportunity to change your own life forever.”

Rabbi Steve Leder

December 22 – December 28, 2018 (not including international travel)
This May, Camp Hess Kramer hosted its second annual Camp Kulam, a camp weekend for families with young children with special needs. In partnership with the Jewish Federation of Greater Los Angeles and Jewish Family Service of Los Angeles HaMercaz, a group comprising camp staff and professional social workers provided 23 families from all over Southern California with a balance of fun and relaxing activities. In addition to specialized programs geared toward children eight and under with special needs, families experienced all the classic WBT Camps favorites, including music, art projects, sports, the petting zoo, swimming, archery, and rock wall climbing. Programming specifically for the siblings of children with special needs was also available throughout the weekend. For adults, the weekend featured support group activities, late-night massages, and cocktail hours.

As any former camper can attest, camp friends are for life, and the Wilshire Boulevard Temple Camps community extends beyond its time spent in the physical space. Camp Kulam is no different. The majority of the families who attended the first Camp Kulam did not know each other prior to that weekend. However, since then, those families have started their own support groups and community networks, bringing the spirit of inclusion and togetherness created by Camp Kulam out into the world.
Over 11,000 Volunteer Hours

The Karsh Center has clocked 3288 volunteer hours this fiscal year alone. This brings our total to 11,688 since opening in April 2016. We estimate an additional 1000 unaccounted hours from several law firms that hosted drives and filled donation bags in their offices and groups of children and teens that volunteered from outside organizations. We're excited to implement these numbers productively, building a better Karsh for our community.

Karsh by the Numbers

By gathering data on our clients, we’re able to tailor our services and programming to satisfy our community’s unique needs. Using data gathered from September 2017 to March 2018, take a look below to see Karsh by the numbers, breaking down our clients and their greatest program needs:

Over 11,000 Volunteer Hours

55% of first time visitors come to the Karsh Center for vision care provided by KHEIR in The Dr. Donald R. Lubin Eye Care Clinic. The clinic was named in honor and remembrance of benefactor Martha Karsh’s father, a practicing eye doctor for over half a century, and its popularity is a testament to the critical need it addresses. While two-thirds of Karsh’s new clients come in for vision or dental care, once inside The Karsh Center they discover the array of services that invite them to return.

Serving Our Neighbors: Though client ethnicity and primary language are reflective of our immediately surrounding Koreatown community, we reach out to and serve a diverse set of clients.

LOVE LOCK DAY AT CAMP 🪜

Sunday, June 3 🕒 11:00 a.m.
Saturday, July 7 🕒 12:00 p.m.
Leave your “heart” at camp…. Now you can share your love for Wilshire Boulevard Temple Camps by contributing to our Kehilla Community Camp Fund and hanging a personalized Love Lock on the new Love Locks Fence (at both camps). It’s a lovely way to commemorate your camp summers, a camp friendship, your leadership or mitzvah year, a loved one, and more!

TOGETHER TO HEAL 🪜 🌉

Sunday, June 24 🕒 10:00 a.m.
As the #MeToo movement causes many to reflect on their past, painful memories of sexual assault or sexual abuse resurface. We want you to know we can be here for you as clergy and as a temple community. Rabbi Susan Goldberg and Rabbi Susan Nanus will hold a gathering for anyone wanting to share stories and get support on Sunday, June 24 at 10 a.m., collectively creating a Jewish ritual of healing to take place the following month. Please RSVP to Rabbi Susan Goldberg’s office at asullivan@wbtla.org.

Why was your Tikkun Olam project meaningful to you?

I feel empowered involved with animal rescues and adoption groups, because I love dogs. I plan to continue to volunteer my time at SOVA as much as I can, as well as get involved with animal rescues and adoption groups.

What do you commit to doing after you become a bar mitzvah to make the world a better place? I will continue to provide help for those in need, and I plan to develop and use my talents in technology to solve challenges facing the homeless and the disabled.

Tikkun Olam Project: I volunteered at SOVA, which means “eat and be satisfied” in Hebrew. I helped package bread, produce, and other bulk food items and even dog food, stocked shelves, and filled grocery orders for those in need.

Why was your Tikkun Olam project meaningful to you? SOVA is more than just a food pantry—it’s a great Jewish community service center that not only provides free groceries but also an array of supportive services to the community. It means a lot that I can do something to help others in need.

What do you commit to doing after you become a bat mitzvah to make the world a better place? Helping at SOVA was fun and rewarding. I plan to continue to volunteer my time at SOVA as much as I can, as well as get involved with animal rescues and adoption groups, because I love dogs.

Why was your Tikkun Olam project meaningful to you? I love animals, and I have been volunteering for Santé D’Or in different ways for several years. I think animals are not treated well in the world. Animals used for food are treated cruelly. Also, there are too many pets that are neglected or abandoned, and there are too many homeless pets.

Family Welcome: Julia Vaughan, sister; Diane Waggoner, aunt.

Tikkun Olam Project: I am volunteering for Santé D’Or Foundation, an animal rescue organization. I am involved in various ways, such as helping with feeding, cleaning, and socialization at Santé D’Or’s adoption center and working at fundraising events and community adoption events.

Family Welcome: Jake Makower, brother.

Tikkun Olam Project: Mia is raising money for Animal Aid Unlimited, an organization in India that runs a busy helpline and rescue service for injured and ill street animals. It performs emergency surgeries as well as spay/neuter services. On any given day, Animal Aid Unlimitted treats about 150 recovering animals in its shelter.

SYDNEY FRANK

June 23, 2018

Sydney is the daughter of Andrea and Douglas Frank; the granddaughter of Gil Frank and the late Pearl Frank.

Family Welcomers: Cathy Frank, aunt; Glenn Frank, uncle.

Tikkun Olam Project: I volunteered at SOVA, a local Jewish community service center. I helped package groceries, stocked shelves, and filled food orders for those in need in my community.

Why was your Tikkun Olam project meaningful to you? After volunteering at SOVA, I appreciate how important organizations like SOVA are to the community. We take for granted how many people in our community really depend on the assistance SOVA provides just to get by on a daily basis. It’s not just the homeless, there are the elderly, disabled, and unemployed, families struggling to afford food to feed themselves. I also learned that SOVA isn’t just a food pantry; it also provides important social services to individuals as well. It’s a great organization, and the generosity of donations is really great.

What do you commit to doing after you become a bat mitzvah to make the world a better place? I want to continue to volunteer at SOVA and get involved in other organizations that support causes that are important to me, because it felt good to give back and, as an added bonus, it was fun and I learned so much. It made me really happy to see people’s faces when they received their food. Volunteering at SOVA helped me to feel grown up and appreciate I can do more to help others in my community.

SAMANTHA BRYN REAVIS

July 21, 2018

Samantha is the daughter of Allison Schwarz and Mark Reavis; the granddaughter of May Lewinter; Stephen Schwarz, Sonia Reavis-Glasser, Philip Reavis.

Family Welcomers: Laura Green, aunt; Eric Reavis, uncle; Leigh and Sasha Reavis, aunts.

Tikkun Olam Project: I’m working with the second-grade religious school class at the Glazer Campus as part of the Madrichim program. Every Sunday, I assist teachers and help children.

Why was your Tikkun Olam project meaningful to you? I enjoy working with children, I understand the importance of having mentors, and I hope to be a strong role model for kids.

What do you commit to doing after you become a bat mitzvah to make the world a better place? I commit to upholding Jewish values in my life and continuing with the Madrichim program.
We appreciate your generous donations. An $18 minimum donation is required for each acknowledgment card.
Are You the Grandchild of a Holocaust Survivor?—Opportunity to Participate in Doctoral Research

Joshua Goldstein, fellow member of the Los Angeles Jewish Community and a Doctoral Candidate at the Chicago School of Psychology, is looking for grandchildren of Holocaust survivors to participate in a research project. If you are between the ages of 25 and 60 years old, and have/had a grandparent who was a Holocaust survivor and spent time in a concentration camp when he/she was at least 12 years old, then you may qualify to participate in this study! Your participation will include a brief in-person interview and a short demographic survey.

If you are interested in participating or would like more information, please contact Joshua by e-mail at JAG2514@ego.thecichagoschool.edu or by phone at (818) 264-6644.

Shavuot and Receiving at Nefesh Retreat Weekend

The Nefesh Community at Wilshire Boulevard Temple gathered for a weekend retreat and celebration of Shavout, the holiday that commemorates receiving the Torah. It was a multi-dimensional, multi-generational gathering with participants ranging in age and interests from infancy to, what one community member affectionately described himself as, “elders.”

For many, the spirit of the retreat began on the drive up PCH with the afternoon sun glistening on the ocean and the pressure of the week receding in the rearview mirror. The aroma of fresh-baked challah and fresh air helped welcome Shabbat as the sun set. Friday was a night of introductions and a birthday celebration. The Nefesh band set the rhythm for the weekend, providing moving accompaniment. Shabbat morning prayers in the open-air chapel was followed by afternoon choices of hiking, an empathy workshop, Indigo dyeing, and a creative visioning session. Saturday night brought the beginning of Shavout. The community shared their own stories of receiving and ended the evening with a song circle. On Sunday, the first group of Nefesh B’nei Mitzvah students led the Shavout morning service. Join us for a camping Shabbat October 19-21!
