

At-Home Learning Expectations for Whitehurst Students

- Participation in the instructional segments/classroom assignments and activities is expected. Grading procedures will be communicated by your child's teacher.
- Participation in resource classes and activities is expected. Your child's daily schedule will indicate when these classes are scheduled.
- Uniform dress is expected to be worn by at-home learners. This simple routine can help your child be in the appropriate mindset to engage in the learning segments and activities for the school day.
- At-home learners will be participating in real-time class discussions and instructional lessons. Please eliminate background noise in your child's designated learning area.
- At-home learners should not eat while participating in any of the real-time lessons or activities on the Schoology App as it poses a potential distraction to classmates and your child.
- Students should use Schoology for academic purposes only.

Important Reminders for Making At-Home Learning Successful

- Set up a learning space for your child to use while participating in real-time learning segments through Schoology.
- Have school supplies in the space for easy access during the day.
- Your child will follow the class schedule provided by the teacher. It is important to follow the rotation days A-G to keep track of the academic instructional segments, as well as designated times for resource classes.
- A schedule board would provide a helpful visual for your child to understand what the learning day will look like.
