This JAWs would allow EYFS practitioners to celebrate and share practical ideas for creating a stimulating environment for all children that encourages agency, independence and interdependence. It aims to maximise and utilise the environment as the third teacher, one of the best ways to encourage communication and collaboration among children from diverse linguistic backgrounds.

Focused Areas:

- Understanding the 'Otherness' of Early Childhood Education, and how this relates to policy and current practice
- Practical Ideas for supporting Language Development; as communication, for thinking and EAL
- Developing the use of an enabling environment; the role of the adult and the nature of child led learning
- Facilitating professional development for EYFS educators
