

CONCURRENT LEARNING : The concurrent classroom

September 3rd

LYCÉE FRANÇAIS
DE SAN FRANCISCO

The concurrent classroom

The concurrent classroom

- A mix of synchronous and asynchronous time
- A new model starting in many schools around the world
- Teaching in two modes at the same time
- Response to individual situations
- Cannot be compared to the on-campus classroom
- Higher sense of isolation - specific attention to this issue

The concurrent classroom

The concurrent classroom

K-1 / TPE - CP

One teacher in charge of the group

Ludivine Jacquette

ljacquette@lelycee.org

+ Several English teachers

Specific approach for these grades as :

- Synchronous streaming from classroom difficult
- Grade 1 - specific attention to reading necessitating a more individualized approach

The concurrent classroom

Gr 2 - 5 / CE1 - CM2

- Classroom teachers (English + French) in charge of his / her students
- Maintaining the sense of belonging to a group
- Schedule will be communicated by each teacher and will vary from one class to another - Schedules of classes are not identical
- Follow up and asynchronous homework will also be provided by the French and the English teacher

The concurrent classroom

Gr 2 - 5 / CE1 - CM2

French

- 2 to 3 hours a day with the French teacher over 4 or 5 days
- if 4 days - 5th day will be asynchronous for French

English

- 3 periods with the English teacher over 1 day or two half days
- Asynchronous work the rest of the week

=> one teacher does not see more than one class a day

WHAT NEXT?

For grades PreK - 1 (LPE-CP) : Ludivine Jacquette will communicate with parents

For grades 2-5 : Teachers will communicate schedule to the families based on their own schedule (for Sausalito families - Ashbury families are continuing in distance learning mode for the time being)

We anticipate one to three weeks of fine tuning of our organization, thank you for your understanding!
