

Happy Wednesday,

Tulsa Virtual Academy families!

Yesterday, you received an email from me containing the Back to School Week schedule for Tulsa Virtual Academy students as well as other resources such as our school supply lists, and information about Chromebooks. Please note that if you still need a district-issued Chromebook for your student, you will follow your home school's schedule for Chromebook pickup only. Back to School Week schedules for each school are continuously being added to the district's Back to School webpage here. If your home school does not have specific date and time information listed for device pickup events, please contact them directly.

Moving forward, you will receive a weekly email from me with updates and helpful information. At the same time, you may continue to receive communications from your home school as well. Part of being enrolled in the Tulsa Virtual Academy includes maintaining a connection with your home school. If you ever have questions about how information you've received from your home school will affect your Tulsa Virtual Academy student, please don't hesitate to reach out to us at virtual@tulsaschools.org.

Lastly, I want to remind you that Tulsa Public Schools is hosting Zoom meetings over the next couple of days to help parents and families learn how to access and use our virtual learning platforms. You should have already received Zoom meeting details via email, and the meetings will also be live-streamed at <https://tpstv.viebit.com>. I encourage you to take advantage of these training sessions, as they will be very helpful!

JOIN US FOR OUR THREE PARENT TRAINING ZOOM MEETINGS!

In these meetings, families will learn how to access and use our virtual learning platforms Canvas, Zoom, and Edmentum. In addition, parents will get step by step training on how to view their student's grades and attendance in PowerSchool. Please check your email for Zoom meeting details.
