SHEPHERD'S CENTER WEBINARS – A series of three free webinars, via ZOOM are being offered on Oct. 13, November 10 and December 8 from 9:45-Noon, You and your adult children are encouraged to attend to learn how to get started with the next chapter in life or in the life of your loved one. This series will cover a variety of different topics each session. "Just Breathe...We've Got You!" will kick off the first presentation (watch for details in next week's column.) Sign up by calling the SCOV hotline, 703-281-0601. Once signed up, you'll be e-mailed an invitation and instructions to log in to the webinar. There will be time allowed for Q&A following each speaker. Visit www.scov.org for more information.

MYTHS ABOUT HOSPICE CARE concl. – Another myth making the rounds is that once you're admitted to hospice you can remain on hospice until you die, even if you live longer than 6 months. This is not true. After the initial 90-day admission period, hospice staff are required to assess each patient every 60 days to determine if they are still hospice eligible. During this time, the patient must continue to experience "measurable" decline in order to remain hospice eligible. The hospice providers' records are regularly audited and they can have payments retracted if they continued to provide hospice services past the time that the patient is considered eligible.

The last myth is that electing hospice means giving up and hastening death by withholding food and/or medication. This is not true. A hospice nurse will review all medications that each patient is taking, but it is up to the patient and/or their family, which medications they want to remain on. The focus of hospice care is on comfort, so anything that can make the patient more comfortable is done. While on hospice, patients continue to be offered favorite foods/beverages, although the texture may need to be adjusted to help with safe swallowing and to avoid aspiration (for example, pureeing food or thickening fluids). In the last days and hours of life, it's normal for patients to limit their intake as their bodily functions begin to slow down and prepare for end of earthly life. (Thanks to Aging Life Care Association.)

ELDER WISDOM – At the store there was a big "X" near the register for me to stand on.... I've seen too many Road Runner cartoons to fall for that one.
