SENIOR YEAR COLLEGE APPLICATION TIMELINE

August & September: Pick a challenging schedule for your senior year. Talk with your counselor if you are taking PSEO classes.

October: Research colleges. Pick 4-8 colleges. Attend virtual college rep visits to ask questions about each college. Re-take the ACT (if a college requires test scores). Request letters of recommendation from your teachers and counselor in Naviance. Start the FAFSA and financial conversations with your family.

November: Identify college application deadlines and application materials that each college requires (pro-tip: some colleges require official test scores be sent directly to them). Work on your essay and colleges' additional essays. Request transcripts through Naviance.

December-January: Submit your applications. Check your application status with every college about 2-3 weeks after you've applied to double-check that all required materials have arrived. Work hard in your high school classes.

February: Check with the registrar or your counselor to make sure your semester grades have been sent to every college you applied to. Apply to scholarships.

March: Receive decisions and financial aid packages. Visit colleges. Apply to scholarships.

April: Visit colleges and compare. Contact financial aid offices if you need to appeal your financial aid. Talk with your family and counselor for support.

May: Decision time. Many 4-year colleges require you commit by May 1st. Email your other colleges and let them know you're not enrolling.

June: Graduation! Request your final transcript be sent to your college.

* October is Minnesota College Knowledge Month. Many colleges don't have application fees if you submit your application in October. Email your counselor for help getting your applications together.

* Don't forget to check out local scholarships listed in Naviance!

* It is never too late to think about college! Many 2-year colleges like North Hennepin Community College, MCTC, and Hennepin Technical College have summer application deadlines.

FINDING YOUR FIT

There are over 3000 colleges and universities in the U.S. How should a senior choose which colleges to apply to?

We recommend that students start reflecting on what matters to them during their junior year. By the fall of their senior year, we recommend narrowing down their long lists, researching colleges that meet their interests and needs, and applying to 4-8 colleges.

Why apply to 4 or more colleges?

At least 1 LIKELY

A college you're confident you can get into and would be happy to attend.

At least 2 GOOD FITS

Colleges you have a pretty good chance of getting into and would be happy to attend.

At least 1 REACH

A college that you have a chance of getting into, but it is a stretch.

Applying to two colleges instead of one makes it

40%

more likely that you'll enroll in a 4-year college.

More options means more opportunity to comparing financial aid and make a smart choice.

2 Year Colleges

Over 40% of college students in the U.S. attend 2-year colleges.

Costs: on average, tuition and fees at public two-year colleges are lower, about $5,569 a year in MN. Financial aid is also available.

Transferring: 2-year colleges can prepare students to transfer to 4-year colleges.

Careers: If you want to start working sooner, you can earn a certificate or degree in a career-oriented field, such as firefighting or nursing assisting in only 2 years.

CRITERIA TO CONSIDER WHEN RESEARCHING COLLEGES

- Location (urban, suburban, or rural), distance from home, and weather
- Size of student body, size of classes, and physical size of campus
- School type (2-year or 4-year and research university or small liberal arts college)
- Academic options like majors and popular programs, graduation requirements, and learning environment (rigorous, competitive, or relaxed)
- Housing options (dorms, apartments, living at home)
- Campus life including sports and clubs, sororities and fraternities, campus traditions, and level of school spirit
- Student atmosphere including diversity of the student body, diversity of political opinions, religious affiliation of the college, and religious practices of students
- Financial aid, scholarships, and the amount of debt you are comfortable having after graduation
- Application requirements including SAT II subject tests and additional essays

GPA, CLASS RANK, & TEST SCORES*

GPA Calculations

A = 4.0	D+ = 1.34
A- = 3.67	D = 1.0
B+ = 3.34	D- = .67
B = 3.0	NC = 0.00
B- = 2.67	P = credit earned, no honor points
C+ = 2.34	I = incomplete
C = 2.0
C- = 1.67

GPA stands for Grade Point Average. At Armstrong we use an unweighted 4.0 GPA scale. Colleges use your GPA to summarize and understand your grades in high school.

Class rank helps colleges understand how a student did compared to their classmates. Typically, students are ranked #1 if they earned a 4.0 GPA (all A's).

Standardized tests scores like the ACT, SAT, AP exams, and SAT II tests help colleges compare students to other students from high schools across the country and world.

Pro-tip: ask your counselor for a copy of your transcript to check your GPA and class rank before you submit your first applications.

* Due to the Coronavirus Pandemic, for the 2020-21 school year most colleges will not require the ACT or SAT. Check with each college to understand their requirements.

LETTERS OF RECOMMENDATION

Letters of recommendation from your teachers and counselor can highlight your strengths as a student, help tell your story, and make a case for why a college should admit you. Many colleges do not require letters of recommendation, for example, the U of M: Twin Cities does not require them. However, colleges like UW: Madison, Northwestern, Carleton, Macalester, and St. Olaf do require letters.

Who should you ask for a letter? At least one English, math, social studies, science or world language teacher who taught you in 10th, 11th, or 12th grade. Ask teachers who know you best.

What should you do to get “good” letters? Ask your teachers early, give them at least 4 weeks before your application deadlines to write your letter. Also give them help. Be prepared to give them a copy of your resumé or college application essays. They might also ask you to fill out a questionnaire that gives them more information about your strengths and high school career highlights. Be thoughtful when you fill out the questionnaire.

Is it rude to remind teachers? It isn't rude to remind teachers before application deadlines. Remind them to submit their letter one week before the deadline.

Remember to give teachers at least 4 weeks to write a letter of recommendation.

Don't forget to thank them!

THE ESSAY: MYTHS AND FACTS

Your college essay will help the admissions officers reading your application to hear your voice and get personality. Your essay might be the first or last thing they read before making their decision. First, your essay must say something important about you. A common mistake is writing an essay that doesn't allow your personality to show through. As you write your essay drafts ask yourself, “What does this essay say about me?”

Myth 1: Colleges essays should look and sound professional.

Fact 1: It is okay for your essay to not sound like a school essay. This is a completely different assignment than a persuasive five paragraph essay. Colleges essays fit somewhere between nonfiction, self-reflection, and diary entry. The best essays are written by being thoughtful and highlighting what makes you You.

Myth 2: Colleges are only interested in sob stories or exciting people. What if nothing interesting has ever happened to me?

Fact 2: Some of the best essays are about “simple” topics like cooking a meal with your family or a small moment that sparked a shift in your life or your thinking.

Your essay doesn't need to be about the most dramatic or tragic thing that has ever happened to you. Everyone has interesting stories and perspectives to share in their college applications.

Myth 3: No one even reads these.

Fact 3: Colleges spend months making decisions because they take the time to have their staff read each application and essay. Good, thoughtful essays humanize applicants and make them rise above others. Make your essay count!
