Chatting with Mr. Chatterton

Happy March Dragons,

Thank you to everyone for coming to SEP conferences last week. If you were unable to come, please contact your child's teacher to organize a time. It is our expectation that we have 100% participation in conferences.

Remember we do not have school this Friday, it is a teacher professional development day. Also note that Thursday is a short day.

We had a great SCC meeting this past Friday. Landon Clark came and gave us information on the 21st and 21st development plans. We also talked about our Student Success Plan goals and the current progress we are making.

Finally, as questions are arising about Corona virus, I wanted to share a couple of "kid friendly" pieces when talking with your children. Here is a new BrainPOP about COVID-19:

AND

Here is a kid-friendly comic about it:

Thanks for all you do. Go Dragons!

Red Ribbon Week is a national initiative to promote awareness of substance abuse in our school age population. Suitable to elementary age children, it is addressing the issue of "why" your kids begin feeling the need to escape difficult emotions and how to teach "mindful awareness" of themselves and others, to prevent the beginning of substance abuse.
