This little book is the Hagerstown Almanack for the year 1971. According to the day of the month, it gives all kinds of good advice particularly to Farmers. This is what it says for November 22. Recent Farmers, we are afraid that you are about to attack a pack of Grey Hounds who merely want to covort innocently on one of your fields. This is a most unwise and foolish mistake. You could well

Learn something about that noble and peerless animal, The Grey Hound.

Naturally the Grey Hound is found in all sizes, puppies, half grown, juvenor Grey Hounds and the fully developed large animals you have already suffered feathly from the teeth of the juvenor Grey Hounds.

Know this. From the smallest to the largest — Grey Hounds have the following characteristics. He is ^{appearance} extremely fast, intelligent and pleasant, equally at home feathers and all. These various experiences have given our scared Greyhound an insatiable craving for raw meat, particularly for yours, Farmers. You are completely wrong if you think his bodily and mental wounds might not ^{have} healed. He is very well indeed, in body, mind and spirit. He realizes the importance of winning, of best effort and dedication. So, Farmers, stay away

"To the memory of the man, first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." Resolution presented in the House of Representatives in death of Washington.—HENRY LEE. 1799 with fire, deadly and yet controlled. While he breathes he will never become a McPhlogh legacy. He wants that football to go with the one the little they found ^{yesterday} war. To paraphrase a little poem: McPhlogh, McPhlogh, beware of the day when the they found shall meet thee in battle array For a team of Orange falls beaten in flight And the Kaydet Farmer will scatter in flight
