			between classes. High school is complicated. Logistics in elementary school is easier. Exemptions -- only 5 or 6 faculty members have requested exemptions from in person teaching. Other schools have more teachers seeking exemptions. Teachers with exemptions still teach, but do so remotely. Square footage of classrooms becomes challenging for social distancing. # of students in class varies from 12 to 23, with 23 in the larger science labs. Weight room -- can only have ten at a time. How many students opted out of in-person learning -- about 230 elected to go to Boulder Universal or go online only. Sophomores and Juniors were most likely to go online. Discussed transportation -- issues arise for providing busing for students. Question about how to socially distance on a bus. Discussion about whether electives are going away. All classes and electives are being offered. 4 classes being taught at a time. Will be communicating structure this week, which minimizes transitions to aid learning. Discussion about REVAS system -- camera system -- which can improve remote learning. 79 units being delivered. Learning blocks will be 80 minutes, and anticipate virtual break out rooms.
