

FRIDLEY ELEMENTARY STUDENTS RECEIVE DICTIONARIES FROM ROTARY CLUB

Each year, the Fridley-Columbia Heights Rotarians visit Stevenson and Hayes Elementary School classrooms to deliver a special gift - dictionaries for every third grader at Fridley Public Schools. This year, due to COVID-19 visitor restrictions at each building, the Rotarians were unable to gift these dictionaries in person. However, this did not deter the Rotarians from continuing the longstanding tradition.

“While the pandemic guidelines prevented the Rotarians from directly interacting with students about the dictionaries, we believe that by placing the dictionaries in their hands through their educators, whether at home or in the classroom, they will facilitate student growth, improve their literacy and continue to be a key life-long resource for the students’ ongoing development,” said Tim Blank, Rotarian and Chair of the Dictionary Project.

Hybrid model third graders received A Student’s Dictionary during an in-person learning day, while students participating in Fridley Online Academy picked up their dictionaries during a designated time.

FRIDLEY SCHOOL BOARD CANDIDATES

Three candidates are running for the Fridley School Board on November 3 during a special election. Residents will elect one Board member to serve in the vacant Board seat to complete the term ending in December 2021. Interim Board Member Gao Nue Xiong is seeking to retain her seat on the Board against challengers Hassan Ali and Ross Meisner.

BOARD CANDIDATE: HASSAN ALI

Hassan Ali, who has lived in the Fridley school district for 20 years, is running for Fridley School Board. He works as a clinical social worker at Peaceful Adult Day Center in Fridley, and said he has always had a passion for helping people. Ali has two children currently enrolled in the Fridley school district, and his oldest, Mohamed, is a recent Class of 2019 Fridley High School graduate. His children, Murtesa and Yasmin, both attend Fridley High School, and his youngest, Munir attends middle school in Richfield. Ali also raised 16 adopted children in his household, all of whom attended Fridley Public Schools. According to Ali, he is running for the Board seat because he wants to serve the community, and believes in the importance of ensuring that every child receives a quality education to become successful. He added that he would be able to serve on the Board as an ethical, compassionate, accountable and fair member. Ali praises the incredible talent in Fridley students, and is a fan of the district's academic programs, athletics and fine arts. He added, "In a perfect world, I would like to create an environment where our students can find successful careers right here in our community. I think we would all like to see our children go away to college or trade schools, and come back here to the City of Fridley to raise their families."

Ali wants Fridley families to know that he values the voice of the community, and is always willing to listen to ideas and opinions. "It is always important that, when making strategic decisions, many ideas and opinions are considered." He added, "It is also important that we consider the perspectives of our students. It is important we understand how our work effects them and the people we want them to become."

BOARD CANDIDATE: ROSS MEISNER

Ross Meisner is a 20-year Fridley school district community member. He works as the Chief Commercial Officer at Basil Systems. Meisner said he was interested in running for the Fridley School Board because he has always been engaged in the community, and has been looking for additional ways to contribute to the city and its residents. "The school board is a place where many of my skills and interests intersect: I highly value public education, I have experience managing the strategy and finances of organizations, I'm committed to STEM and arts education, I have six years of prior school board leadership, and I want to help keep Fridley a desirable place to live, work, and raise a family." He added, "My kids are teens now and I have more time available, so I'm willing to step up, apply my knowledge and energy, and help make Fridley Schools as great as they can be."

Meisner has two children, Anna and Samuel, who currently attend Fridley High School. He comes from a family of educators, and with two children enrolled in the district, he said he is motivated to ensure every child, with their unique needs and goals, gets a high-quality education that will prepare them for success in life. Additionally, Meisner said on top of economic troubles and coronavirus fears, the community may be worried that education can be disrupted. Recognizing that teachers are jumping through hoops every day to prepare for a school year unlike any other, Meisner said he will apply his technical and healthcare and business background to help analyze all options and ensure that the district continues to do everything possible for students.

INCUMBENT INTERIM BOARD MEMBER: GAO NUE XIONG

Gao Nue Xiong was selected by the Fridley School Board to serve as its interim Board member until the end of December 2020. Xiong said she was interested in running for the Fridley School Board because she is passionate about public education and wants to help the Fridley school district to fulfill its priorities by contributing her voice to school policy and procedure decisions. She is a four-year resident of the school district, and said that her variety of perspectives contribute to her ability to serve on the Board. She has three children who are enrolled in Fridley schools - two children, Penelope and Wyatt, attend R.L. Stevenson Elementary and her oldest, Tristan, attends Fridley Middle School. Her youngest, Luna, will be attending Fridley Preschool in September 2021.

Xiong works as an academic advisor at the University of Minnesota-Twin Cities, where she serves students who are enrolled in the elementary and arts teacher education programs. Through her career, Xiong brings an understanding of the process that teachers go through in order to teach our children.

Xiong strongly believes in educational equity, and she knows that it is vital work to close opportunity gaps and afford equitable opportunities to all students. She approaches the work of supporting student achievement by continually asking: "Are we utilizing best practices in our policies and programming to give each student an equitable chance at succeeding and excelling in school?" Xiong values the benefit of having multiple perspectives at the decision-making table, as this leads to more equitable policies and procedures, which can better serve the increasingly diverse student body.

"I do not take this role lightly, and I will do my best to serve our community," said Xiong. "I will honor and listen to all voices. I will work in partnership with our administration to make the best possible decisions to support our students, staff, and families. I am honored and humbled for the opportunity to serve as interim school board member, and I look forward to serving long-term, if given the opportunity."

FRIDLEY HIGH SCHOOL KEY CLUB HIGHLIGHT!
FHS Key Club continues its mission to serve the community

Building care, compassion and character, the Fridley High School Key Club is continuing its efforts to brighten the days of community members through service. On September 22, the Key Club students made fall-themed door decorations for local nursing home, Landmark of Fridley. Students put together 65 decorations with autumn "leaves" and fall greetings. The students decided to continue this project every month for local nursing homes.

"It was nice to do some hands-on craftmaking, and to be able to do something to help add some great color to the Landmark of Fridley and brighten up its residents' day!" said Key clubber and FHS junior Andrew Stevenson (pictured above).

The Key Club is a student-led organization that works to make a positive impact as they serve others in their schools and communities. Throughout the month of October, the students have several projects planned, including highway clean-up, collecting pop tabs, virtual Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF and football clean-up.
