Eligibility standards apply to all students who represent Bellevue Christian School in co-curricular activities. All rules and guidelines are in accordance with the WIAA and WIAA Guidelines.

II. Academics

The WIAA gives member schools a minimum eligibility standard for academic eligibility. It allows member schools to have standards higher than the minimum. Bellevue Christian School has chosen to have a standard higher than the minimum set by the WIAA.

Grade Checks

Bellevue Christian School establishes a grade check system – there are seven grade checks over the course of the school year. At the time of those grade checks no students can be failing (below a 60%) any of their classes. If a student is failing a class at that time they will not be allowed to participate in any games/contests for two weeks. Please refer the Grade Check and Eligibility Dates handed out each year for specifics.

Athletics for Academic Credit

1. Four semesters of physical education are required for graduation. Two of the PE credits may be earned by participation in BCS after-school interscholastic sports during any grade
2. The 2 credits that can be met by participation in BCS after school interscholastic sports may also be satisfied by participation in after school interscholastic sports in other local high schools for sports not offered at BCS. In these cases, the student will submit a letter of completion from the Athletic Director of the local high school where the student participated, and the credit will be listed as P/F on the BCS transcript.
3. In order to receive academic credit for participating in a sport you must complete all requirements of that sport. Each sport is different and will have different requirements. Coaches for individual sports will set the criteria for academic credit; this will be approved by the athletic department. Injuries and extended sickness are evaluated on an individual basis by each coach and the Athletic Director.

NCAA Eligibility Requirements – for NCAA eligibility requirements please refer to the BCS Secondary Academic Handbook. Christian Citizenship

1. The possession, use, or distribution of, tobacco/nicotine products (vaping products), alcohol, legend drugs, or controlled substances are violations of this eligibility standard.

2. Violation Consequences:

a. When a student athlete violates this eligibility rule, he/she will be ineligible for 1/5 of the contests allowed by the WIAA in that sport. The ineligibility sport specific would be as follows:

Baseball, Softball and Basketball – 20 game seasons – 4 game suspension.

Soccer, Volleyball and Wrestling – 16 match seasons – 3 game/match suspension.

Golf – 12 match season – 2 match suspension.

Cross Country, Football, and Track and Field – 10 meet/game season – 2 meet/ suspension.

b. If any portion of the suspension period is at the end of the sports season and goes into post season play, the season for that student-athlete is over. No student will regain eligibility for that specific season after the regular season has ended.

c. A student-athlete who has violated this rule will be ineligible for 1/5 of the contests (listed above by sport), provided the student-athlete participates in an assessment, and completes a pre-approved, prescribed program. The 1/5 of the season ineligibility period will start after an assessment has been completed and a program has been started.

The Principal, along with the HS school counselor, must approve the program prior to enrollment, and they will closely monitor the program until it is completed. The Athletic Director will work closely with the school counselor and HS Principal and will alert the involved parties when the ineligibility period starts.

3. A student who conducts themselves in a manner that discredits themselves, others, or the school may be declared ineligible. Examples include but are not limited to: all forms/apps/message boards of social media; negative attitude towards school (staff or students); trancies; bullying; harassment; theft; vandalism; inappropriate language; poor sportsmanship, violation of civil and/or criminal law; etc. Each of these will be looked upon case by case and suspensions from games/contests and/or practices will coincide with school discipline.

General rules regarding eligibility

- A suspended student may not participate in or attend any co-curricular activity (practice or contest) during the time of his/her suspension.
- An ineligible student may try-out for, practice with, and be a member of a co-curricular group, but may not participate in a contest or performance.

IV. The BCS Athletic Vision

The BCS Mission Statement states “Our goal is to prepare young people to live fully for God in a rapidly changing world, with the ability to understand, evaluate and transform their world from the foundation of God’s unchanging values.” The BCS athletic vision affirms these principles. BCS is committed to educating both the heart and the mind of the student athlete.

Athletics are a vital part of the Christian educational experience. As teacher/coaches, we believe in educating the whole person through mind, body, heart and spirit. In athletics, we actively integrate faith, learning and character in our students.

The BCS athletic program enhances the quality of life in the individual participants, the school culture, and the greater community. It affords students an atmosphere of hard work and discipline, as they explore their own unique God-given gifts.

The BCS Athletic Department Affirms:

- Academic aspirations of students
- Good sportsmanship
- Giving, receiving and rewarding maximum effort
- Fair opportunities for men and women
- Encouraging all students to participate in athletic activities as athletes or spectators
- Appropriate levels of competition for each developmental stage
- The desire to reach personal and team excellence when measured against ones “best self.” (1 Corinthians 9:24-27)
- The value of competition inherent in sports

As in other area of Christian life, athletics tests our perspective. Contrary to the attitude of the culture around us, we affirm that our athletes should participate in a manner that enriches living, brings out sportsmanship, builds fellowship and un-wraps God-given gifts.

BCS will continually work to maintain a balanced perspective, ensuring that the competition inherent in sports complements all a student’s education. As representatives of Jesus Christ and BCS, each person involved in athletics will approach competition with the values of honesty, fairness, respect and humility, realizing that it is a privilege and honor to be a representative of Jesus Christ. The aim of this document is to address the goals and objectives of the athletic program at Bellevue Christian School.

#1 Goal: Athletics will be one of many integral building blocks of a quality BCS education.

BCS values athletics as one integral part of a student’s educational experience, but not all encompassing.

It provides an additional arena where students can take risks, make mistakes, and be accepted whether they succeed or fail. The value comes in the challenge for the individual to pursue performances that would otherwise be difficult to achieve, while aspiring to the ideals of fair play, commonality of purpose and the concept of team over self. Our athletic program develops athletes who accept victory with humility and defeat with grace.

Objectives

The Bellevue Christian School program will promote the following actions to maintain the value of sports programs while keeping them within the proper perspective of a quality education:

- Create an atmosphere where our student athletes see themselves as reflecting God's image through their participation and development.
- Encourage students to participate in multiple sports as well as non-athletic activities – so they can fully develop their God-given gifts.
- Encourage students to set aside daily study time.
- Reduce as much out-of-class time as possible in scheduling competition.
- Expect students to submit assignments on time and take tests as scheduled.
- Our school position is that school activities (of which sports are just one) should come after God, family and studies, but before outside "select" level activities/sports. Parents and children need to be assured that the near obsessive importance of sports in modern society is not the only building block in preparing themselves for post high school days. We believe it is important for students to experience many different activities in order that they have an opportunity to discover and unwrap their God-given gifts and talents.

The BCS program will consistently strive for balance and counsel parents and athletes that athletics is only a part of developing the entire student. It is just one building block in the preparation of our students to live fully for God in a rapidly changing world.

#2 Goal: Success of the BCS Athletic Programs will be measured through a reasonable combination of player/ team development, improved competition and wins/losses.

BCS will always play to win while demonstrating individual intensity and respectful competitiveness. We believe that winning must be redefined from what our popular culture calls "winning". The scoreboard should never be the only indicator of success. The effort to prepare, and the desire to compete, must take precedence over a comparative score. Success is not based on the number of games won or lost, but rather on the basis of what each individual does in relation to his or her own ability and how the team has progressed as a cohesive group. BCS defines success as that self-satisfaction which comes from knowing that coaches and athletes did everything within our power to develop ourselves physically and spiritually.

Objectives:

The Athletic Department will measure an athletic team/program's success by a combination of player and team development (physical, emotional and spiritual), student participation and team enthusiasm along with the overall team record.

Our coaches will:

- Strive for winning and excellence through preparation while constantly building positive character strengths in every athlete.
- Have a personal philosophy that allows athletes to meet all challenges, whether favorable or unfavorable, with calmness, grace and composure.
- Model correct behavior toward opponents and officials, including offering apologies as appropriate.

Our athletes will:

- Prepare to the best of their ability to become a "player of skill" (Cor 3:23/Phil 4:13: Do your work heartily as for the Lord and not for men. I can do all things through Christ).
- Dedicate themselves to a total release of all that they are mentally, emotionally and physically able to achieve and to become like Christ in every athletic situation - whether practice or competition.
- Accept favorable or unfavorable decisions, as well as victory and defeat, with equal grace.

Our students, parents and fans will:

- Respect the decisions of the officials and coaches.
- Respect and honor the abilities and best efforts of the student/athletes on both teams.
- Model their game behavior with a Christ-like attitude, and positively encourage all involved in the competition.
- Value the game over winning or losing.

#3 Goal: BCS athletes, students, parents and fans will exhibit an attitude of sportsmanship that reflects our Christian values.

At Bellevue Christian School we believe that our behavior and attitudes should model those of Christ. Do nothing out of selfish ambition or vain conceit, but in humility consider others better than yourselves. Each of you should look not only to your own interests, but also to the interests of others. Your attitude should be the same as that of Christ Jesus..."Do everything without complaining or arguing, so that you may become blameless and pure, children of God without fault in a crooked and depraved generation, in which you shine like stars in the universe" (Philippians 2:1-15).

We should strive toward the highest of standards, that is, a Christ-like attitude. Athletics provides a tremendous opportunity and responsibility to model our beliefs in the public arena. Whether it is fair or not, everyone involved in athletic competition is under constant scrutiny because of the performance aspect of sport. Choosing to be involved in the athletic program at Bellevue Christian School as an athlete, coach, or spectator means choosing to represent Christ above all else.

Sportsmanship must be a priority at Bellevue Christian School. It must be taught, modeled and expected from athletes, coaches, the student body and adults. Cooperation is a key component of a successful athletic experience. We discredit the Lord and lose credibility with members of our community when we fail to show good sportsmanship. Officials are an essential part of the game and must be honored as an authority figure. Although they are not perfect in judgment and action, officials are serving our athletes; their efforts must be valued and respected.

Our competitors are not our enemies. Rather, they are what sharpen us as Iron Sharpens Iron (Proverbs 27:17). They have similar goals, having prepared as diligently as we have, and God loves them as much as He does us. The stronger the opponent, the better chance we have of producing our best performance.

For those students observing as fans, the school's teams are, in a fascinating way, an extension of themselves. There is a special institutional connection which motivates our fervent support and then rewards steadfast loyalties in a great variety of ways. By the same token, they must exhibit the same Christ-like expressions as players, coaches and parents.

Objectives:

The game of life holds some great disappointments. Christians have God's wisdom, which James describes as "peaceable, gentle, willing to yield, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality and without hypocrisy" (James 3:17). When we let Christ control us, we can lose with grace because we are hoping in God. Keeping this in mind as a school, we must hold all of ourselves to the following expectations:

Expectations of a BCS Athlete:

In the heat of competition, an athlete should continue to remember the second greatest commandment of God in the words of Matthew. 22:39, Love your neighbor as yourself. The expectation for BCS athletes is that their conduct be honoring to God in words and actions. They should strive to learn and live the life-lessons inherent in a positive “athletic attitude”: honesty, integrity, dignity, obeying rules, attentiveness, learning from mistakes, giving his/her best effort, being coachable, self-discipline self-directed work habits, mental toughness, punctual, quiet confidence, humor, enthusiasm, focus, perseverance, humility, encourager, unselfish, gracious in victory and defeat. Athletes will:

- Show respect to officials, coaches, teammates and competitors. Show respect for opponents by shaking hands with them.
- Accept the decisions of contest officials.
- Display a Christ-like modesty in victory and graciousness in defeat.
- Submit to the disciplinary actions of the coach.
- Respect rules as guides to protect the team relationships.
- Win and lose with dignity.

A BCS Parent’s Expectations:

Parents should set an example in conduct and behavior with their children in all of their athletic endeavors echoing the words of Proverbs 22:6: “Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it”.

- Be positive with your child. Let him/her know they are accomplishing something by simply being part of the team. Assure them that his/her role (no matter how much they play) is extremely important to the team.
- Support your child’s coaches. Publicly criticizing judgments made by a coach is detrimental to the program. Remember to follow the Matthew 18 principles.
- Encourage your child to follow team rules set by the coach. A coach should expect more from their athletes than from a typical student. The more sacrifice one makes for the team, the more that team means to the student.
Parents need to appreciate this and help motivate their child to succeed.
- Insist on your child doing their best in the classroom.
- Be team players too. Parent jealousy can and will devastate a team. Strive to understand the importance of the “team”. You as parents are a vital part of our program. When the coaches, players, parents and administration (with Jesus at the center) are all supporting each other and believing in each other, all things are possible!
- Be an enthusiastic Viking fan. Always display a Christian attitude at ALL events. Display Viking pride. Don’t degrade officials or opponents.
- Expect your child to take responsibility for his/her actions. Give credit when things go well.
- Hold him/her responsible when mistakes are made. We can only learn from our mistakes when we are held responsible for our actions.

Expectations of a BCS Fan:

But the wisdom that comes from heaven is first of all pure, then peace loving, considerate, submissive, full of mercy and good fruit, impartial and sincere. (James 3:17)

- Participate in cheers and applaud good performances.
- Work cooperatively with contest officials and supervisors in keeping order.
- Refrain from crowd booing, disruptive foot stomping or making negative comments about officials or participants.
- Always stay off the playing floor or contest area.
- Respect public property.
- Show the same respect for injured competitors as you would for BCS team players. Love your neighbor as yourself. (Matt 22:39)

#4 Goal: The BCS coach will model a Christ-like attitude and approach in his/her daily work.

Coaching is both a privilege and responsibility and should never be entered into lightly. Coaches at Bellevue Christian School build lifetime Christian character traits in young people. The Christian coach focuses on the example we have in Jesus Christ and lives an attitude that is glorifying to God in all that they do (Col. 3:17, 23, and 24).

The coach must develop a team that displays unity, hard work, ethical behavior, goal oriented and self-discipline. These traits show the teams love and respect for each other and their opponents. Coaches help athletes understand the difference between right and wrong behaviors, how to work to achieve a goal, and how to accept positive discipline. These actions best express love for the athletes.

The coach assists the student athlete in developing the appropriate skills necessary to contribute to the success of the team and skills which are age and ability appropriate to the team. The coaching staff is responsible to bring these skills together to compete at a level compatible with the team's developmental level (JH/HS) and ability.

Objectives:

BCS coaches must exemplify the same Christ-like attitude that is expected of athletes, parents, and fans as stated in Philippians 2 (servant attitude). The coach will provide a firm foundation for how student athletes will approach life after BCS.

A BCS Coach must:

- Model Christian values
- Provide a positive learning environment (Train your child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it. Proverbs 22:6)
- Honor athletes with respect and dignity
- Model emotional control and sportsmanship in all circumstances
- Communicate openly and honestly with athletes and parents
- Select a team that will represent BCS well, using physical skills, behavior and attitude as criteria for team membership
- Establish and maintain high ethical standards for behavior – expect and accept only good sportsmanship and behavior during all practices, games, on buses and while visiting other schools
- Teach fair play, and appreciation of the other team's players, coaches, parents, and officials
- Teach how to win and lose with dignity
- Follow school policies and communicate effectively with the Director of Athletics and Activities

#5 Goal: Athletes will be encouraged to participate in as many sports as possible while maintaining eligibility and team selection standards.

Objective:

Multiple Sport Participation

Students are encouraged to participate in as wide a variety of activities as they can successfully manage. Athletes benefit physically, intellectually, emotionally and spiritually by being involved in multiple quality athletic and non-athletic activities. Acceptance of this "full participation" model means that occasional conflicts between activities will occur.

The Director of Athletics and Activities will:

- Schedule contests in coordination with other school programs
- Recognize athletes who participate at the varsity level in more than one sport and work to ensure they are given the opportunity to do this

- Mediate a resolution process if needed when a sports program and other school activity compete for the time of a BCS student
- Work to reduce or eliminate out-of-class time as much as possible in scheduling competitions

Coaches will:

- Recognize athletes who are involved in multiple activities and the time commitments required
- Make an effort to coordinate schedules with the other school activities
- Limit the expectation for participation in “out of season” activities (i.e. open gyms, preseason conditioning programs etc.) by students involved in other sports or activities
- Establish a cooperative agreement with the “in season” coach when sharing athletes
- Support and promote other sport and activity programs within the school
- Encourage participation in a variety of activities rather than specialization in one activity

Team Selection

Every student should have the opportunity to try out for athletic teams. If team size must be limited due to availability of staff, facilities, schedules, or the safety of players, decisions to cut will be made by the head coach of that program working with the Director of Athletics and Activities.

We respect each student’s right to participate as well as their decision/right not to participate.

The Junior High will continue to keep the “no-cut” policy as long as the safety of students is not jeopardized. All students who turn out will be placed on a team and will be expected to attend practices and adhere to all team expectations. The focus of the program is broad participation, development of skills and knowledge/understanding of teamwork. Teams may be separated by age, skill level, or group dynamics, as determined by the Director of Athletics and Activities, based on league makeup, scheduling opportunities and coach consultation. Each player will have some playing time in each contest.

High School programs are more competitive in nature. Coaches will select their teams each year using the following criteria:

- Attitude, effort and behavior
- Size and availability of the practice and game facilities
- Total number of minutes per competition and potential playing time for each athlete being considered
- Need at the JV or Varsity level for players to perform specific roles to complete the team.
- Maximum manageable size of a team during a practice
- Physical skills, conditioning, strength and knowledge of the game

If cuts are necessary, the coach will counsel those who don’t make the team in a timely manner about the rationale of the decision, the player’s strengths and areas for growth. The coach will also recommend alternative sports programs available in the school or community to encourage further development. The coach will communicate clearly the reasoning and process used in all team selections.
