5. Remote learning: The plan is $80,000 towards technology for upgrades and classroom technology. A survey was sent out to teachers about what would they need right now if they went to full time remote learning. Tim Wilson dgot some great feedback. The $20,000 that is included in the plan will cover the items that could be purchased to help in the classrooms. Teachers want parents and student to understand that it takes some time to grade and to be a little understanding; teachers are trying their best.
