Toni A. Harris is the Director of Career Services and Alumni Relations at NYU's Robert F. Wagner Graduate School of Public Service. In this capacity, she oversees a comprehensive suite of career development, leadership development and alumni engagement initiatives.

Ms. Harris will provide a short workshop on “composing” your career by providing a framework to explore and identify your skills and values, as well as your interests related to job functions. She specializes in coaching mid-to-senior-level professionals on short-term and long-term career development strategies. These include evaluating personal and professional interests, career planning, building professional networks, negotiation and managing workplace challenges. She also designs and delivers leadership development programs for public service professionals while consulting organizations across all sectors on strategies to engage, recruit, develop and retain diverse talent. Ms. Harris will spend the evening at 91st Street helping members of the Sacred Heart alumnae community tap into their talent.
