Dear Students and Parents,

The final exam schedule for the first semester is listed above. Thursday, December 3 and Friday, December 4 are designated as final exam review days, which means that no tests or quizzes will be given and no large projects will be due on these days. The first day of examinations will be Monday, December 7 and will go through Thursday, December 10. There will be no school for High School students on Friday, December 11.

Students, we ask you to please show your integrity by being fair and honest in your approach to final exams. As you know, honesty is one of our core values at SAS. Although teachers have developed alternate versions of their subject exams, some questions may be the same on multiple versions of a test. Please be aware that it is a very serious offense to provide questions and/or answers to other students who may be taking a later exam in the same subject.

Important Notes About Exams

- Exams will be given in the same classroom as the course is taught. Any exceptions will be posted on a bulletin board in the main foyer.
- Students must be on campus for their specific exam periods only. They may arrive at the beginning of the exam period and leave campus when their last exam of the day is completed. Please be aware that if students leave the campus, they may not return to campus again that day.
- Students without an exam who need to remain on campus study in their usual study hall locations.
- Buses will be available daily to transport students home 15 minutes after the end of the second exam at 12:15pm.
- Semester Exam days ARE NOT free dress days. Students are expected to be in uniform for all exam blocks.

We wish you all well!
